NO BACKDOWN BY LABOR ON MAJOR PLANS

Many Worries Facing Attlee Outside House

LONDON (AP)—The government today was reliably reported to have decided against any backdown from its position on nationalization of steel.

The newly-appointed cabinet of Prime Minister Attlee met for a short time today and the well-informed lobby correspondent of the Press Association, who often writes with official guidance, said:

"There is no foundation for the impression that the... Speech (From the Throne) to the new Parliament on Monday will contain a statement which in effect is a government 'climb down' over iron and steel nationalization."

There had been rumors the government would stay its hand on iron and steel as well as further nationalization plans, in order to avoid a test in the House of Commons, where Labor has only a seven-seat majority.

POSSIBLE ELECTION

The law of the last Parliament putting steel under state ownership does not go into effect until Oct. 1. The actual take-over is scheduled for next Jan. 1. Before then a new election may be held where the whole issue can be fought all over again.

The mere report that the government might be planning to backtrack touched off some rebellion in party ranks. It started in Railway Review, a journal of the National Union of Railwaymen and its 460,000 members. J. E. Figgins, N.U.R. general secretary, demanded in a leading article that there be no compromise on iron and steel.

He said this move and additional nationalization were what Labor asked the electorate to endorse on the national election Feb. 23.

Other storm signals flying in the face of the Labor government included:

1. Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers demanded the removal of John Strachey from his post as War Minister. The newspapers said he was an avowed Communist. The government strongly denied the charge.

2. A country-wide strike vote was ordered among 3,000,000 members of the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions. They will decide whether to strike or arbitrate demands rejected by the government for a £1 ($3.10) weekly pay increase.

3. The economic committee of the Trades Union Congress called a meeting for next Wednesday to review its attitude toward the Labor's wage-freeze policy. The T.U.C. unions have 8,000,000 members.

Republic Of Saar Set Up By Treaty

PARIS (AP)—France today gave the title of "Republic" with broader autonomy to the occupied Saar in return for control of the valley's rich coal mines for the next 50 years.

In a treaty signed by French and Saar representatives, France promised the border area—which is still claimed by Germany—full independence after 50 years.

The final effectiveness of the Franco-Saar pact, however, hinges on a final peace treaty between the Allies and Germany. The treaty today conferred the title of "Republic of the Saar" on the region containing 926,000 German-speaking inhabitants.

France detached the Saar from the rest of Western Germany after the Second World War and gave its government a form of autonomy linked economically to France.

A 12-man board equally divided between Frenchmen and Saarlanders, will be set up to supervise the coal mining.

The effects of the strike, if it continues, were expected to reach shattering proportions by next week. Leaders of industry said that by then major plants will be halting operations on a wholesale scale for lack of coal.

Steel plant layoffs spread to California. There, the Kaiser Steel Corporation announced the laying off of from 10 to 20 per cent of its 5,000 employees.

Seven hundred plants were reported shut down or curtailed in the Youngstown-Cleveland section of Ohio, because the gas they have been using has become in such great demand there isn't enough to go around.

The United States Navy came to the aid of coal-short institutions in seven states.

President Calls For Report On Dispute

From UP and AP Dispatches

In Washington the U.S. government today obtained a full Taft-Hartley anti-strike injunction against John L. Lewis' defiant coal miners as President Truman called on unions and management leaders for an immediate report on their dispute.

Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech granted the government's request for an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction to replace the temporary order which the miners have defied since Feb. 11.

The 20 days that have expired since that temporary order was issued will be included in the 80-day period of the new injunction, leaving another 60 days in which the miners are forbidden to strike.

Mr. Truman's action was disclosed by White House press secretary Charles G. Ross.

Ross said Mr. Truman had asked for a report from the board as "soon as possible."

Ross said the board might be able to make this report today because all of the board members are here.

Asked whether this action prefaced a personal appeal by Mr. Truman to the operators and the union, Ross said he could not make any forecast.

PLANS LAST CHANCE

The President was reported ready to give the mine operators and John L. Lewis a last chance to settle the dispute before he asks for power to seize the mines.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Meanwhile a swelling clamor for federal seizure of the strikebound coal mines arose as an unprecedented coal crisis gripped the United States.

In Congress, Senator Wayne Morse (Rep.-Ore.), introduced a bill to authorize government seizure of the pits he promised to seek emergency action on the measure at a meeting of the Senate Labor Committee today.

The effects of the strike, if it continues, were expected to reach shattering proportions by next week. Leaders of industry said that by then major plants will be halting operations on a wholesale scale for lack of coal.

Mercury Drops To Record For March In East

TORONTO (CP)—Coldest spot in Ontario Thursday night was Sudbury with a recorded 41 below — "cold enough to freeze glycerine in automobiles."

All northern areas were at least 25 below, with southern sections hovering around zero. Winds were light today with no snow. Warmer air moved in from the south and was expected to cover the province by mid-night.

NEW MARCH LOWS

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec City recorded new lows for March 3 today as temperatures dropped to about 20 below. Winds of 10 to 20 miles an hour made weather seem even colder. Little relief from the cold is seen for Quebec before the week-end.

SNOW AT FUNDY

HALIFAX (CP)—The Maritimes were generally cool and clear today, with continuous snow in the Bay of Fundy area. The snow was expected to move across the rest of Nova Scotia later today, with temperatures generally lower than Thursday.

Plan Airlift For Snowbound B.C. Indians

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (BUP)—Much-needed food supplies will be flown to 350 Indians at a snow-bound reservation 160 miles north of Prince Rupert, B.C., today, weather permitting.

F. E. Affield, Indian Department superintendent at Prince Rupert, said that the "Gillak-danik" reservation had been "frozen in" for the past three months and that food supplies were getting low, especially milk and butter for the children.

A Queen Charlotte Airlines plane piloted by Roy Berryman was standing by at Prince Rupert to make the trip yesterday but weather kept it grounded.

The aircraft will make two trips and para-drop the supplies, which will also include first class mail.

Affield said Indians on the reservation had adequate medical supplies. The food mission was requested by the Indian Affairs Department.

Riots Foreseen In Ports As Arms Reach France

By PRESTON GROOVER

PARIS (AP)—The first shipment of arms that reaches France from the United States probably will set off a riot—and this may be a good thing for France.

Arms are expected early this month under the U.S. military aid program.

In the U.S. the date of such shipments is a secret. It almost certainly won't be a secret on arrival in France.

PORTS HONEYCOMBED

Every part is honeycombed by Communist agents. They are determined to carry out the party's threat to prevent the landing of any arms that will build up France's military strength.

French morale is about as low as it has been at any time since the war. This is the view not only of British and U.S. diplomatic observers, but many Frenchmen as well. The country has had a disquieting series of reverses and can't seem to do anything to help itself to get out of the doldrums.

The country not only feels insecure, but is ashamed of its weakness and the rebuffs that come with that.

Russia recently recognized the independence of Ho Chi-minh, the guerrilla leader in Indo-China. France has seen days when she would have gone to war about such a thing. But not now. She sent a note of protest.

The Russian ambassador to Paris diplomatically laughed out loud. He sent it back with a curt reply that amounted to "don't be silly." And the French had to take it.

This correspondent has questioned Frenchmen, Britons and Americans about the effect the arms shipments will have, and the answer is almost unanimous. They think it will give France a real shot in the arm. It will start her on the road to rebuilding the military strength about which Frenchmen have always boasted.

GUNS DUMPED

The government has been made to look ridiculous on several recent occasions, mostly at the hands of Communists, either in France or abroad.

Artillery has been dumped off railroad cars. A trainload of armored cars was held up temporarily by demonstrators. Another mob seized a ramp that the French army was transporting to North Africa for some experiments with guided rockets, and dumped it into the Mediterranean.

May Session Of U.N. Stated To Be Likely

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The critical issues of Red China and the atomic bomb appeared headed today for a special session of the U.N. General Assembly in New York in mid-May.

But U.N. leaders privately expressed little belief that such a meeting would entice the Russians back to the fold unless an unexpected break comes.

The Soviet delegation and its eastern European allies have been on a walkout strike against U.N. organizations since January, refusing to sit with delegates of Nationalist China.

Informed delegates at the U.N. said the feeling is growing that something must be done; that the U.N. cannot go on forever with some of its members refusing to take part and with the east-west tension increasing.

Thus far, these sources said, the best bet appeared to be a special session.

The session might be called primarily to settle the China question and get the Russians and their satellites back into the meeting if possible.

Then, the Assembly could be faced with the atomic control question. If there is a special session it might begin about mid-May. The regular 1950 session is scheduled for next fall.

St. Roch Heads In May For East Coast, Arctic

GORDON LEIGHTON

Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Reversing its normal route to a sub-tropical one for the time being, the R.C.M.P. Arctic supply ship St. Roch will leave Esquimalt, probably in May, for the east coast via the Panama Canal.

The duties of this famous Northwest Passage vessel will continue as in the past to be the supply and inspection of northern posts of the force, but it will operate this year from the eastern instead of western coast for greater administrative efficiency.

When it leaves Esquimalt the St. Roch will be under the command of Inspector Hall. It is not intended, however, to replace on the forthcoming northern ice-fields run its skipper, Inspector Henry Larsen, under whom so much of its fame was scored.

Truman Moving To Seize Mines

Asks Congress Give Him Power To Have Needed Coal Produced

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman this afternoon asked Congress for power to seize the strike-bound coal mines of the United States.

The President said in a special message: "Within a few days we shall be virtually out of soft coal. The danger to the national health and safety is real and immediate. It requires action at once."

Reds Riot In French House; Hold Rostrum

PARIS (AP)—Fists flew in the National Assembly today in a row touched off by Communist deputies. One deputy was treated in the infirmary after he was punched in the face.

Communist attempts to block proposed government measures to impose punishment for sabotage were believed behind the outburst, in which at least 10 of the deputies' desks were smashed.

The trouble began when Vice-President Marcel Rocard put to vote a secondary bill on social security. The Communists apparently were interested in stalling on this, because the sabotage measure was next on the agenda.

In the midst of the voting, Communist Deputy Gerard Depat demanded he be allowed to speak and explain his vote. Rocard refused. A bunch of Communists left their seats and started for Rocard. The Vice-President recessed the session, but 30 Communists stayed on.

Depat went to the rostrum, sat there, read a newspaper and ordered a clerk to bring him a glass of water every few minutes.

Nurse Thought Victim Of Mercy Killing Dead

Saw No Sign Of Life Before Sander Injected Air Into Mrs. A. Borroto

By HENRY SUPPLE

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—A head nurse testified today Mrs. Abbie Borroto had a death pallor and was not breathing some minutes before Dr. Hermann N. Sander ever injected air into the woman's veins.

"I thought she was dead," said Mrs. Cecilia Smith, who had stopped at the patient's bedside in the Hillsboro County Hospital last Dec. 4.

Mrs. Smith, a defence witness, said she failed to detect any pulse in the 59-year-old cancer-stricken woman during her first visit to the bedside the morning Mrs. Borroto died.

Later, the nurse testified she returned with Dr. Albert Snay and that he took Mrs. Borroto's pulse and listened for her heart beat through a stethoscope.

Dr. Snay has signed a statement that the woman was dead when he looked at her and that he so indicated to Dr. Sander as the first-degree murder defendant went to the room minutes later.

Dr. Sander is accused of injecting a fatal dose of air into Mrs. Borroto's veins in a so-called mercy gesture to end her suffering.

Dr. Sander and his wife both will testify at the trial, now in its 10th day. This was revealed Thursday by defence counsel Ralph Langdell in his opening statement to the 13-man jury.

Defence witnesses during the morning session dealt chiefly with Dr. Sander's character and background.

KILL POLL TAX IMMEDIATELY VANCOUVER DELEGATION URGES

The provincial cabinet was asked to bring about immediate repeal of the Poll Tax Act.

The request was made in a brief presented to the cabinet by the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The junior chamber's brief said it reiterated its opposition to the poll tax and was pleased to point out that its organization had been instrumental in getting the Vancouver City Council to discontinue collecting the provincial tax.

"As the Poll Tax Act, to a large extent, is not enforced by your government, and an increasing number of municipalities refrain from carrying out this legislation on behalf of the government," said the brief, "we urge that this act be immediately repealed."

Bandits Kill U.S. Woman, Ten Burmese

RANGOON (AP)—United States embassy officials said today that Miss Selma M. Maxwell, American missionary nurse whose slaying was announced in Washington Thursday, was tortured by Burmese bandits before she was killed.

The officials said the 67-year-old nurse from Senatobia, Miss., was beaten with rifle butts when she failed to understand her captors' demands.

Ten natives who tried to rescue Miss Maxwell Tuesday died with her—shot down in ambush, two miles from safety.

The nurse's kidnapping took place near the southeast coastal town of Moumein. Details of the incident were told to reporters today by Ballard R. Donnell, U.S. vice-consul.

GOVERNMENT ASKED TO REVISE LIQUOR ACT

Sales In Restaurants Asked In Brief Given To Cabinet

Revision of the B.C. Liquor Act to permit consumption of liquor in such places as restaurants and cabarets and to broaden the program of education in the use of alcohol was requested in a brief submitted to the Provincial cabinet today by a delegation from the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The delegation's brief claimed the present law was not designed to eliminate the evils of alcohol, nor had it reduced the consumption of liquor in the province. "We are not alone in the contention that the flouting of the law, and the fact that it has never been fully enforced, proves that it does not conform to the social customs of communities which represent the majority of the population of this province," the brief said.

Board Unanimous In Report After Arbitration Hearings

A five-day, forty-hour week to go into effect July 1 and a 5 per cent wage increase, retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year, were awarded the Victoria City Police Federal Union today.

A board of conciliation on the dispute between the union and the Victoria Board of Police Commissioners handed down a unanimous report today and commented on the "fair and reasonable attitude exhibited by the parties."

Paul B. Paine was chairman with Herbert W. Davey, K.G., employers' nominee and George F. Gregory, union nominee, on the board which held hearings Tuesday and Wednesday at City Hall.

The increase on the basis of the present police payroll will cost the city of Victoria $11,839, City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald said today.

MAY NEED MORE MEN

The figure does not take into consideration any extra cost involved if additional men must be hired. The police commissioners told the hearing they felt a 40-hour week instead of the present 44 would require a further eight men and possibly a ninth. The police union placed the need at five additional men.

In addition to the 40-hour week the union sought wage increases from $13.60 to $56.60, bringing salaries to a par with Vancouver police. Had these been granted in full the cost to the city was estimated at $38,237.

NO SERVICE STRIKE PAY

The conciliation board unanimously agreed that the matter of service stripes be left out of the 1950 agreement. Police had asked for the stripes which carry additional pay.

Nature of the duties performed by the police as well as comparisons drawn between other employees of the city were considered by the board in their wage findings.

NEW SCALE

"It is the unanimous decision of the board, having regard to what is fair and equitable between the parties, that a wage increase of 5 per cent for all employees be granted."

Here is the scale for 1950:

Here is the scale for 1950:	Per Month
Detective-sergeant	$256.62
Detectives and sergeants	$243.70
First-class constables	$229.32
Second-class constables	$210.21
Third-class constables	$191.10
Probationers	$174.72
Police women (to be classified as second-class constables and paid)	$196.55

STARTS IN JULY

"Upon the basis of submissions made it is the unanimous opinion of the board that the working week for police officers should be reduced to 40 hours, the reduction in hours to become effective July 1," the award read.

"This change in hours is not to effect any reduction in pay, when implemented."

Parcel Placed Aboard Plane By Mrs. Pitre

QUEBEC (CP)—An airline agent today told the jury trying J. Albert Guay for murder that a parcel delivered at Quebec airport by a "Mrs. Pitre" was placed aboard a Canadian Airlines plane which later crashed killing 23.

Willie Lamonde, C.P.A. agent at the airport, said the parcel, of heavy brown cardboard, was placed in the left, forward luggage compartment before the plane took off Sept. 9 on a flight that ended in disaster at Sault Au Cochon 40 miles from here.

Previous witnesses in the case in which the Crown seeks to prove that Guay arranged to have a time-bomb placed aboard the airliner have said the plane was wrecked by a blast in the left, forward luggage compartment. Mrs. Guay was one of the crash victims and Guay is charged with her murder.

Lamonde did not identify Mrs. Pitre further but last week Crown Prosecutor Noel Dorion said he would attempt to prove that Mrs. Arthur Pitre, one of the Crown's key witnesses, placed aboard the plane a parcel that was responsible for the explosion.

Mrs. Pitre was described in evidence at the preliminary hearing last fall as a friend of Guay's.

Lamonde said Mrs. Pitre brought the parcel to the airport in a taxi and paid the shipping charges on it. The parcel bore the names of the sender and the addressee but Lamonde said he did not see Guay's name on it.

When the seventh day of the trial opened this morning an airport baggage handler told the jury that no freight was loaded in the left, forward luggage compartment when the plane left Montreal. The plane flew a regular schedule between Montreal and Sept-Isles, Que.

Cold In U.S. Sweeps South

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 100 schools were closed today as blizzard-swept central New York battled snowdrifts 12 feet high in some places.

Elsewhere in the United States wintry blasts blew away all thoughts of springtime from Minnesota to the Atlantic seaboard. The Arctic air seeped southward and the freezing line extended into central Georgia.

In upstate New York a new cold wave sent the temperature skidding below zero and in many cities and towns and increased the drain on critically short coal supplies.

Canlon, in northern New York, reported an early morning reading of minus 21.

TOO MUCH TALK?

HAVING in the course of a long journalistic and public career had to sit through many "talk-fests" of various kinds, my sympathies were with the scheduled speaker at a California gathering who balked after being made to wait four hours.

The speaker, Dr. Robert Millikan, Nobel prizewinner, had been invited to the annual dinner of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce. As in many banquets of that kind there was a lengthy program of introductions, reports and speeches—to say nothing of a seven-course meal.

THEN HE BALKED

SO WHEN his turn came, close to midnight, Dr. Millikan rose, and instead of giving the erudite peroration which his audience expected—and perhaps dreaded—had this to say:

"My definition of an educated person is one who can concentrate on one subject for more than two minutes. At this late hour, I do not believe this audience would be able to follow the address I was prepared to give."

SHORT AND SNAPPY

THAT NOBEL prizewinner's reaction to the long wait reminds me of a similar happening some years ago in New York. A celebrated actor had been importuned into being the speaker at a banquet and found himself placed in the position of tail-piece in a lengthy and wearisome program.

And when the time finally came around to his turn, and the chairman, after a flowery, effusive introduction, called upon him "to give his address," the by this time thoroughly irritated star of the stage got up, said: "Ladies and gentlemen, my address is The Lambs' Club, New York," and promptly sat down, to the consternation of the chairman and everybody else.

TRYING TIME

SINCE ON MORE than one occasion I have been a guest speaker who has had to wait a long time for my turn on a program, I can well understand what agonies some nervous speakers go through under those circumstances. I know an easterner, one of Canada's finest orators, who confessed to me that, despite his years of experience as a speaker, he still had butterflies in his tummy and sweated miserably with apprehension until he got on his feet.

So, to those who may tend to look upon the Van Nuys speaker's action as somewhat rude, I suggest that the rudeness lay rather on the side of those who had asked such an eminent guest and then relegated him to sit through a program of endless length while the audience got more and more tired and visibly bored.

NOTHING ELSE TO DO

AS ONE WHO frankly admits her own failings in talking too much, I think there is too much talk, too many speeches these days. This is becoming more and more of a talking age. When we aren't talking ourselves, we are listening to someone else—either at banquets, luncheons, meetings, over the radio and on the movies. In fact, silence is becoming almost as rare as the dodo.

This is a characteristic of the North American continent and one at which many a visitor from across the Atlantic has marveled. More than once I have been told by visitors who have been pressed into speaking before clubs of their amazement at the readiness of both Canadians and Americans to listen to speeches, ad infinitum.

SEEK THE ANSWERS

IT IS TRUE that the world is full of problems and that we want to know the answers, and so are anxious to hear as many views as possible in the hope of finding those answers. Which reminds me of what J. P. Marquand says in his book, "So Little Time," of the club luncheon and banquet addicts:

"Actors in an endlessly repeated gastronomic drama . . . moving into a grim uncharted future without their own volition in the hope they together might find some solution."

And I still think this compulsion to talk, this readiness to listen to all and sundry, help to rob us of the capacity of thinking for ourselves, fills us with predigested opinions and tends to make us accept words as a substitute for much-needed action.

Extra Out-of-Work Pay Under New Regulations

The principal clause regarding supplementary out-of-work benefits has become effective following the passing of the amendment bill regarding the Unemployment Insurance Act on Tuesday, the Victoria office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission reported today.

If a person has exhausted his ordinary benefit or has not made contributions sufficient to qualify for benefit, supplementary benefits will now be paid during the winter months provided certain conditions are abided by, the office points out. The person applying must be unemployed, available for and capable of work and not disqualified under any other provision of the act.

The period when the supplementary benefits can be paid will be between the period of Jan. 1 and March 31 in subsequent years from 1951 on. This year, however, the period is between Feb. 28 and April 15.

The rate of payment is approximately 80 per cent of the rate paid to ordinary U.I. beneficiaries.

PERSONS ELIGIBLE

Persons eligible for supplementary benefits are divided into four classes.

Class One permits benefits to anyone whose benefit year terminated since the previous March 31 and who has not made enough contributions to re-qualify for ordinary benefits and class two refers to persons who have not qualified for ordinary benefits but have paid at least 90 daily contributions since the previous March 31.

Anyone who has worked in lumbering or logging camps in any province of Canada except B.C. and during any 12-month period in the 18-month period preceding his claim has worked at least 90 days in logging together with other insurable employment comes under classification three.

FIRM DEFUNCT

Crown representative in a case against Keating Co-operative Fruit Exchange asked Magistrate Henry C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday for a stay of proceedings.

The request was granted.

The stay will allow the Crown representative time to contact Ottawa to receive further instructions on the case. Instructions are needed as it appears the Keating Co-operative Fruit Exchange is now non-existent.

The exchange is charged with failing to file an income tax return in 1948. As far as can be ascertained from the only known person ever associated with the firm, the exchange was defunct long before 1948.

The only living former associate of the exchange is Alfred Langridge, Brentwood, who left the exchange in 1942.

Mr. Langridge was summoned a week ago to answer the charge leveled against the firm but was later told it was not necessary for him to represent the exchange in the case.

W. C. Moresby is Crown prosecutor.

Filipino Move May Get Peace Treaty With Japan By Summer

Western Allies Likely To Sign Alone If Russians Stand Aloof

MANILA (AP)—Gen. MacArthur wants a peace treaty with Japan before this spring runs out. He may get it, after all.

This possibility took an upturn with President Emmanuel Quirino's sudden announcement that the Philippines government is ready for an early signing of a treaty.

Quirino's surprise move is interpreted here as an indication the treaty writing may not be far off. So far, the Soviet Union and the Western Allies have been unable to agree even on what powers should be at a peace conference. Of late, however, there has been a good deal of speculation in Japan and in the United States that a treaty may be written without the Soviet Union unless the Russians change their attitude.

MacArthur wants the peace conference in Japan. High Allied authorities told this correspondent in Tokyo last November that the occupation commander feels this way.

By having the conference in Tokyo, the treaty makers would be able to eliminate many problems of international politics which have prevented signing of treaties ending the European phase of the war.

MacArthur's choice of Japan. It is known reliably, is opposed by some countries represented on the Far Eastern Commission, and by some high U.S. authorities as well.

The general belief in Manila is that Quirino's offer of Manila as the peace conference site was inspired by American sources.

Two motorcyclists who pleaded not guilty to going over 30 miles per hour on Gorge Road Sunday, Feb. 26, were tried and convicted. The two, Sohen Muckay, 213 Cadillac Avenue, and Gerald Willard, 1531 Edgeware Road, each were fined $15.

Two other motorcyclists with them at the time were more successful in defending themselves against similar charges and their cases were dismissed. They were Robert Fennell, 1123 Reynolds Road, and Edward Grant, Work Point Barracks.

Constable J. Burnett, arresting officer, testified he paced all four going 45 miles per hour.

Pioneer Group Elects Officers

NANAIMO—Charles Keene was elected president of the Pioneers' Association here. Arthur Schofield was elected vice-president; Jack C. McGregor, secretary; Mrs. F. A. Bushby, treasurer; Jim Begg, press correspondent; Mrs. Harry Freeman, pianist, and Rev. J. H. Wright, chaplain.

Executive committee: Jim Begg, chairman; Harry Freeman, George Bertram, R. T. Wilson, J. Lyne, Mrs. James Hartwood and Mrs. George Bertram.

PAYS $25 FINE
A fine of $25 was imposed upon Florence Moore, 738 Port Street, when found guilty in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon on a charge of careless driving.

Charge against the woman motorist was laid by police following an accident Jan. 20 on Keating Cross Road.

ELECT MODERATOR
Rev. E. G. Thompson, M.A., Sooke, was elected moderator for the ensuing year.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean, convener of missions, reported increases in membership and finances for all churches.

Mr. McLean also outlined the canvass about to commence in all congregations for the St. Andrews' residence which will be built on the campus grounds of the University of British Columbia to house students for the ministry of the Presbyterian Church.

Officers elected to standing committees are as follows: Home missions, Rev. J. L. W. McLean, convener, Dr. S. Lundie, S. L. McCracken; evangelism and social action, Rev. Dr. Kerr, F. McAvoy, H. B. Currie; S.S. and

TAKES MONEY OF SOLARIUM

Contents of the tin were not known.

Condition Of Boys Reported Improved

Condition of two small Saanich boys who were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday afternoon with burns was reported today to be improved. The two had a good night.

The boys, Ronnie Whittaker, 3½, Ivor Road, and Ardean Albertson, 2, Allan Road, were burned when a pot of scalding-hot coffee overturned on them.

Ronnie suffered burns to both arms, his body and right leg. Ardean suffered bad burns on his arms.

Church Supports Drive Against Drunk Autoists

The Presbyterian Church of Victoria has gone on record as being in full sympathy with present efforts that are being made in British Columbia to curb the menace on the highways created by drunken driving.

At the spring meeting of the Presbytery of Victoria stern penalties were urged in a resolution addressed to the Attorney-General against drunken drivers in the interest of public safety.

The resolution requested an alteration to the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act to include agreement on the part of anyone applying for a driver's license "to allow the taking of blood for the purpose of determining its alcohol content in the event of an accident, or under other suspicious circumstances from anyone suspected of being intoxicated while in the control of a motor vehicle."

The resolution adds that if a motorist refuses to consent to a blood test his driver's license should be suspended.

Ministers and elders attending the meeting from all parts of the island were of the opinion that many accidents were due to motorists under the influence of liquor.

ELECT MODERATOR
Rev. E. G. Thompson, M.A., Sooke, was elected moderator for the ensuing year.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean, convener of missions, reported increases in membership and finances for all churches.

Pact Sets Up Saar Republic France Controls Coal Mines

More Autonomy For Region Under Latest Agreement

PARIS (AP)—France today gave the title of "Republic" with broader autonomy to the occupied Saar in return for control of the valley's rich coal mines for the next 50 years.

In a treaty signed by French and Saar representatives, France promised the border area—which is still claimed by Germany—full independence after 50 years.

The final effectiveness of the Franco-Saar pact, however, hinges on a final peace treaty between the Allies and Germany. The treaty today conferred the title of "Republic of the Saar" on the region containing 926,000 German-speaking inhabitants.

France detached the Saar from the rest of Western Germany after the Second World War and gave its government a form of autonomy linked economically to France.

A 12-man board equally divided between Frenchmen and Saarlanders, will be set up to supervise the coal mining.

Plan Airlift For Snowbound B.C. Indians

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (BUP)—Much-needed food supplies will be flown to 350 Indians at a snow-bound reservation 160 miles north of Prince Rupert, B.C., today, weather permitting.

F. E. Affield, Indian Department superintendent at Prince Rupert, said that the "Gitlak danix" reservation had been "frozen in" for the past three months and that food supplies were getting low, especially milk and butter for the children.

A Queen Charlotte Airlines plane piloted by Roy Berryman was standing by at Prince Rupert to make the trip yesterday but weather kept it grounded.

The aircraft will make two trips and para-drop the supplies, which will also include first class mail.

Affield said Indians on the reservation had adequate medical supplies. The food mission was requested by the Indian Affairs Department.

WOMAN DRIVER FINED

Mrs. Betty May White, 2720 Mt. Stephen Avenue, was fined $35 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge. The woman was charged by police Feb. 23 after the car she was driving went over the curb on Queen's Avenue and knocked down a boulevard tree. About $500 damage was done to the car.

Red China, A-Bomb May Bring Special U.N. Meet

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The critical issues of Red China and the atomic bomb appeared headed today for a special session of the U.N. General Assembly in New York in mid-May.

But U.N. leaders privately expressed little belief that such a meeting would entice the Russians back to the fold unless an unexpected break comes.

The Soviet delegation and its eastern European allies have been on a walkout strike against U.N. organizations since January, refusing to sit with delegates of Nationalist China.

Gadsden Asks Area By Rink Be Rezoned

Rezoning of his property adjacent to the site of the proposed Victoria Curling Club rink from commercial to garage, was asked by Police Commissioner Burgess J. Gadsden, Thursday.

Mr. Gadsden had opposed allowing the curling rink to be built beside the Memorial Arena. City Council Tuesday instructed City Solicitor A. J. Patton to draw up a 20-year lease to convey the property to the rink.

His request for reclassification of eight lots with 132-foot frontage on Quadra and 120 feet on Caledonia was owing to "changed conditions," he said.

Mercury Drops To Record For March In East

TORONTO (CP)—Coldest spot in Ontario Thursday night was Sudbury with a recorded 41 below — "cold enough to freeze glycerine in automobiles."

All northern areas were at least 25 below, with southern sections hovering around zero. Winds were light today with no snow. Warmer air moved in from the south and was expected to cover the province by midnight.

NEW MARCH LOWS

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec City recorded new lows for March 3 today as temperatures dropped to about 20 below. Winds of 10 to 20 miles an hour made weather seem even colder. Little relief from the cold is seen for Quebec before the week-end.

HALIFAX (CP)—The Maritimes were generally cool and clear today, with continuous snow in the Bay of Fundy area. The snow was expected to move across the rest of Nova Scotia later today, with temperatures generally lower than Thursday.

PAYS TWO FINES

Fines totaling $20 were imposed upon Lucien Hocking, 1023 Pandora Avenue, when he appeared in city police court today and pleaded guilty to two driving charges.

Hocking was fined $15 for speeding and $5 for not having a B.C. driver's license.

Accused told the court he was the holder of both a French and an English driver's license.

SANDERS TESTIFIES IN OWN DEFENCE

Baltimore Doctor Offers To Take 'Mercy Killing' Dosage

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore doctor has offered to have 40 cubic centimetres of air injected into his veins in behalf of the defence in the New Hampshire "mercy killing" trial.

Forty cubic centimetres is the amount allegedly injected into the veins of a Manchester, N.H., cancer victim whose death Dr. Hermann N. Sander now is being tried. The defence will contend, however, that no more than 28 C.C.'s were given in a series of "shots."

MANY OCCASIONS

Dr. Harry M. Robinson, professor of dermatology at the University of Maryland and instructor of syphilology at Johns Hopkins Medical School, said he had injected "40 or more" centimetres of air into the veins of many patients without any harmful effects.

Dr. Robinson's offer stipulated that his son, also a physician, give the injection and that it be done in Baltimore. He said he can't leave the city at this time because of the demands of his practice.

Dr. Robinson declared: "Injections of air into the veins cannot cause death. Air that is injected into the veins goes to the right side of the heart and then to the lungs, where it disappears."

"There are no results at all—either good or bad. The air simply has no effect."

However, some of Dr. Robinson's colleagues at Hopkins and Maryland disputed his contention in general and stated that air in a vein can kill. They declined use of their names.

Production Totals Show 1949 Prosperous Period

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A summary of Canadian activity in the prosperous year 1949 is given in the current monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Here is some of it, using latest estimates:

Gross national production—$16,000,000,000, a record, exceeding 1948 by $300,000,000. (This is an aggregate figure reflecting total production of goods and services at current prices.)

Agriculture—Cash income from the sales of farm products was $2,409,000,000, a decline of $11,000,000 from 1948, but an increase of $447,000,000 over 1947. (Subsequent payments on western coarse grain deliveries may be expected to raise the '49 figure.)

"Despite some increases in acreage, crop returns as a whole were disappointing."

ABOVE AVERAGE

Forestry—Decline of about 4 per cent from 1948 indicated, but still substantially higher than the 1937-46 average of 4,500,000,000 board feet. Lumber production reached its peak in 1947 at 5,900,000,000 feet, dropping to 5,500,000,000 in 1948.

"Production in British Columbia, which continues to account for nearly half the total, was better maintained than east of the Rockies. The most serious decline was in the Maritime provinces.

Fisheries—Landings of sea fish (not including Newfoundland) totaled 1,177,000,000 pounds, valued at almost $54,000,000, compared with upwards of 1,227,000,000 pounds, valued at $60,000,000 in 1948.

The Atlantic coast catch accounted for 663,000,000 pounds as against 701,000,000 in 1948, with value figures of $28,000,000 and $31,000,000 respectively. On the Pacific coast landings totaled 514,000,000 pounds, valued at $25,000,000, compared with 1948's $76,000,000 pounds, valued at almost $30,000,000.

In regard to inland fisheries, Manitoba had increased landings but values were down 16 per cent.

Mining—Canadian mineral production reached a new high of $890,000,000, against $820,000,000 in 1948. Newfoundland figures, included for the first time, accounted for nearly $26,000,000.

INDUSTRIAL FIGURES

Manufacturing—The 1949 average of the banks' index of industrial activity was 159 (1937 equals 100), compared with 157 for 1948.

Assault Charge Against Hockey Arbiter Dropped

Magistrate H. C. Hall Thursday consented to the request of Ernest Clarke, Topaz Avenue, that a charge of assault against referee Dick Davis of the Pacific Coast Hockey League be withdrawn.

Davis had been charged with assault by Clarke following an altercation between the two at the Vancouver-Victoria hockey game of Feb. 4.

A warrant for Davis' arrest was issued at that time, but was never served.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Alexander Kilpatrick, 3851 Langaster Road, when called in city police court today to answer a charge of careless driving. Kilpatrick was charged following an accident Feb. 24 on Belleville Street. The case was remanded to Thursday of next week for trial.

About Our Police System

SEVERAL YEARS AGO IT WAS suggested that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police take over the job of policing British Columbia. The pros and cons of this idea were thrashed out by civic, public, and semi-public bodies. One of the main arguments advanced in favor of the adoption of the scheme was that it would reduce the cost to the taxpayer and that it would prevent an overlapping of effort under innumerable heads. Much of the argument against the scheme found support in the contention—a contention with which nobody seriously would quarrel—that the oldest provincial police force in Canada had done a remarkably good job, and that to disband it or to interfere with such an organization would be detrimental to the public interest.

Doubtless many opinions will be expressed as to the wisdom or otherwise of such legislation as may currently be designed to effect this transformation. But uppermost in the minds of many of the elected representatives of the people and the voters of the province in general—if a change is in the offing—will be a natural concern for the future of those valiant men who have served British Columbia so well and so faithfully for so many years. Should this proposal to clothe the Royal Canadian Mounted Police—an organization whose marvelous efficiency is recognized the world over—with the necessary authority to preserve order in this part of Canada be carried out, it is hoped that any change in the administrative formula will include specific arrangements for absorption of the provincial personnel—all able and conscientious public servants.

Not To Be Separated

THE WARNING OF MR. HENRY FORD II, head of the great automobile production organization which bears the family name, sounds a realistic note in the situation arising from the strike of United States soft coal miners. Observing on Thursday that the walk-out had reached its 25th day, he said that "this country will be shut down in two weeks" if the men remain away from their jobs. There is much sober truth in the statement, as there was in Mr. Ford's further remark that "you can't make a man work if he doesn't want to." The latter is a principle that still prevails on this continent and among the other democracies. It does not hold true in the totalitarian states—a fact which is conveniently overlooked by those who extol the virtues of those lands that claim to have abolished unemployment.

But that is of little help to the United States at the present moment. The decision of the Supreme Court that the United Mine Workers Union and its leader, Mr. John L. Lewis, were not legally responsible for the continuation of the strike, has added further to the problem. If the men, singly, have decided not to work, they cannot be made to. But with their freedom to refrain if they wish, should go a sense of responsibility to the nation that provides that freedom. For while the miners believe they are fighting the powerful mine operators, and perhaps the government, they are also fighting the innocent citizens who will suffer from their action.

The strike is designed to effect a coal shortage which in turn will stimulate public opinion to demand a settlement—a settlement, the miners hope, favorable to them. But the pawns in the game are not necessarily the mine operators. They are obviously the little people—the low income workers who cannot now obtain fuel, the families whose breadwinner has been thrown out of work by the coal shortage, the people of the United States who depend on the coal industry for the turning of the country's industrial wheels. Those are the ones who now are suffering. Regardless of the justice or otherwise of the miners' demands, they should not forget that. Responsibility goes with freedom. Loss of one reacts to the detriment of the other.

Justice Can Act Swiftly

EXCEPT FOR THE POSSIBILITY OF an appeal, the case of the atomic spy, Klaus Fuchs, has been closed in a London trial lasting 90 minutes—a distinct contrast to the 90 days or 90 weeks which have been consumed in espionage trials in the United States. But despite the alacrity of the proceedings there can not be the least doubt that the accused had a fair trial and that he had every opportunity to present such defence as he wished. In his confession there was no suggestion of the docile outpourings that have featured recent espionage trials behind the Iron Curtain. Fuchs' admission of his acts was made before he was even charged, not after months of incarceration beyond the reach of friends or legal advice or while subject to such persuasive measures as totalitarian police states might choose to employ. The quality of the justice, and the manner in which it was applied, might well be noted by those few who would like to see the so-called "people's courts"—the creations of Nazi and Communist governments—take the place of our present system.

Right Job Brings Happiness To Worker In Complex World

By BRUCE BLOSSAT From New York

A UNIVERSITY of Chicago professor declares that half of all American adults are misplaced persons—in their work, that is.

He thinks the unfortunate job choices so many people make have a good deal to do with the high rates of divorce and mental illness. Why do they wander into the wrong paths in such great numbers?

INCREASINGLY COMPLEX

One reason seems to be that until the last decade or two very few ever exercised much care in picking a job. It often could be said that a man gave more real thought to choosing a new car or radio than to deciding his life's work.

A big part of the trouble was that as modern life grew increasingly complex it became harder for a man both to measure his own talents and to size up the suitability of various jobs. The tendency of too many has been to drift into whatever work appeared handy. Once set in a particular groove, and saddled with family responsibilities, people have little chance but to stick.

There's a second big reason: Industrial civilization, founded on machines in both office and factory, inevitably involves many tasks that are monotonous, routine and dull. They're broken down into such small segments that an individual worker seldom sees or can understand the whole operation.

Like a soldier in battle, the worker never knows how the war is going. He just knows what's happening to him. And that knowledge isn't very satisfying. Not like the deep pleasure and pride the craftsman of old gained when he turned out a well-made boot or carriage.

Slowly we've been developing answers to these problems. Vocational guidance is winning a bigger and bigger place in our schools.

Furthermore, business and industry are growing steadily more aware they must somehow make dull jobs palatable. Either by reminding workers constantly of the rounded picture into which their work fits, and thus giving them a solid sense of achievement; or by helping them develop side interests that provide real compensation for the satisfaction missed on the job.

BASIC PROBLEM

Most social scientists probably would agree with the Chicago professor that these problems go right to the root of our modern day social unrest. You don't make happy men or build happy homes and families when so many people spend most of their waking hours at chores which either bore them or actually upset them.

A good start has been made, but we need much more attention in schools and in industry to the problem of bringing real human satisfaction into the workaday world.

CHEAP CHAUVINISM

Ottawa Journal

Well, in Russia today, without a doubt, Pravda and Izvestia and Radio Moscow are telling the Russian people how, on the word of the U.S. Secretary for War, Americans, launching a hydrogen bomb, are preparing to "lick hell out of Stalin."

The cheap chauvinism of Mr. Johnson is thus, at this time, criminal. Peoples all over the earth are hoping desperately for some way out of the tragedy which hems them in. To have words such as those used by the U.S. Secretary of War adding to tragic possibilities, is the only effect they can have, is disheartening.

Me Too In Britain

By JOSEPH ALSOP From London

THE REMARKABLE achievement of the British Conservative Party is what stands out in the election here. Only five years ago, Britain entered a period of social change of unprecedented depth and extension. There were many Conservatives who then feared, and there were many Laborites who then hoped, that the old political pattern would be shattered forever.

Instead, the old pattern has reasserted itself in a way that has surprised both parties. The Conservatives have already scored an extraordinary comeback. The Labor government's parliamentary majority is so narrow that most observers expect another general election within 12 months. In that election, if it is held, it is quite possible that the final disappearance of the Liberals will give outright victory to the Conservatives.

IN A PRACTICAL sense, this is the outcome that all the most long-headed Tory leaders always desired. Devaluation of sterling has been so successful that the exchequer is positively embarrassed by the increase in its hard assets reserves. Yet the final British financial crisis is probably yet to come. The wiser Tories naturally prefer the chickens to come home to roost at the end of Labor's administration rather than at the beginning of their own.

In American eyes, meanwhile, the big question posed by the British election is how the Conservatives did it. After all, the United States' period of social change began nearly 18 years ago. All the innovations of the New Deal and the war and the Fair Deal have been far less radical and far-reaching than those that have been made in Britain. Yet the Republicans are still wandering in the political wilderness, with rather darker prospects, if anything, than in the New Deal's middle course.

THE ANSWER clearly lies in an entirely different attitude toward the political process, which is the real mark of the British Tory Party. In brief, every Tory chiefdom from Lord Salisbury to R. A. Butler, from Anthony Eden to Oliver Lyttelton, is more or less committed to the principle of "me too."

In the whole Tory shadow cabinet, only Winston Churchill has ever objected to following this political rule. With the exception of Lord Salisbury and one or two others, the Tory leaders, however senior and however eminent, tend to cower when Churchill roars. Yet whenever Churchill has shown the slightest tendency to return to his tactics of the 1945 election, he has been repressed by the united opposition of his colleagues.

THE PLATFORM the Conservatives ran on can be simply summarized. It was: "We believe in everything Labor has done except nationalization. We can do it better. And although we are not going to nationalize any new industries, we are not going to de-nationalize, either."

This platform was roughed in as early as two years after the 1945 general election, in the first Conservative program prepared by R. A. Butler. Since then, the obvious mistakes to which governments in power always become committed—as for example certain obviously extravagant and impractical aspects of the health program—have been energetically attacked. But the basic Tory emphasis has always been upon preserving the gains made under the labor regime.

FROM WHAT has happened here, indeed, a kind of classical strategy for Conservatives quite clearly emerges. The cause of great periods of social change is always rising discontent with their share of the national product among large groups of the population. The aim of the ensuing changes is always to correct the distribution of the available cake and, also, so that the majority will be satisfied.

Once the majority has been satisfied, however, the way is open for the Conservative Party—the party opposing change—to come to power again. But this is only possible when the Conservative leaders frankly and convincingly accept the changes already made. Otherwise those population groups that have benefited from the changes will continue to vote with the Left, in order to protect their gains from a party they regard as committed to putting the clock back.

IN SHORT, facing irreversible political facts, and being ready to say "me too" when necessary, is the essence of successful conservatism.

After watching the British election, the observer inevitably thinks about the howls of nostalgia for Warren G. Harding from the dominant Republican reactionaries in Congress, or about Governor Thomas E. Dewey's farm speeches in 1948, which left every farmer wondering whether the whole farm benefit program was to be cast into the discard. No doubt these same Republicans have been jabbering over a "trend to the right." No doubt also, in the very next breath, they have been denouncing the very political tactics that have provoked this trend in Britain.

That Man Again

Truman Sees Imperative Need For Russian Agreement On Atom

By DAVID LAWRENCE, from Washington

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has, in effect, appealed to Russia to try to make an agreement with the United States to control atomic weapons.

The President used implicit language in his Washington birthday speech but his meaning is clear. If Russia will suggest a workable plan, America will be glad to abandon its own proposals.

STAKES TOO LARGE

"The stakes are too large," says the President, "to let us, or any nation, stand on pride of authorship. We ask only a plan that provides an effective, workable system—anything less would be a sham agreement. Anything less would increase, not decrease, the dangers of the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes. We shall continue to examine every avenue, every possibility of reaching an agreement for effective control."

The President shows an awareness of the sentiment that has swept the world for developing an atomic control agreement. He insists that the United States will continue "to work honestly and wholeheartedly toward that end but we must remember that the outcome is not ours alone to determine," and he adds that "the actions of men in other countries will help to shape the ultimate decision."

There is a curious sort of concession here to world opinion—an expression of willingness to negotiate even though a deep-seated belief prevails here that such an effort would be futile because the Russians have no intention to allow international inspection or control of their atomic energy developments.

Undoubtedly, in Great Britain, where Winston Churchill proposed in a campaign speech that there be a last effort to meet with Stalin and work out an agreement somewhat the same, public demand exists as in the United States to do something more than organize a military defense.

The net impression given by Mr. Truman's utterance is that he does not see any other way out than by furnishing economic aid to undeveloped areas in the world and to European democracies, and by organizing military defense. While he calls this program of increasing the areas of strength the "hard path to peace," he sees it, nevertheless, as the existing situation.

PESSIMISTIC VIEW

Altogether these words of realism do suggest a pessimistic view and a long, long road. They should not by any means, however, discourage the suggestion of or finding of alternative ways to bring peace. For the President himself concedes something besides materialism is involved when he says:

"The real strength of the free nations is not to be found in any single country or any one weapon, but in the combined moral and material strength of the free world."

German Public Opinion Reacts Against Nazi Revival Attempts

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL, from Bonn

GERMAN PUBLIC opinion, as displayed in parliament and the press, is reacting with increasing vigor against attempts to revive anti-democratic movements to rehabilitate "the good sides of Nazism." This reaction is no longer confined to the political left; the Christian Democrats, the leading party in the government, are now calling for active measures, even though this sometimes leads them into conflict with their coalition partners further to the right.

CLEARLY DISPLAYED

The new alignment was clearly displayed a few days ago when the Bundestag, the lower house of parliament, debated a motion for ending de-Nazification. The attempts to extirpate Nazism by letting millions of people pass through a crazy judicial procedure administered by laymen, has been a shocking failure everywhere, and today no party has a good word for it.

But when the Free Democrat proposer of the motion, Herr Euler, defended his measure in terms which seemed to deny the moral right to eliminate the guilty men of the Nazi period from public life, a Christian Democrat, Herr Eugen Gerstenmeier, a survivor of the 1944 anti-Hitler conspiracy and known for his activity in international Protestantism, answered him with an impassioned plea that the end of de-Nazification must not become the signal for the unconverted Nazi forces to resume their activity unchecked.

Gerstenmeier received immediate support both from the Minister of the Interior and from the Socialist Opposition, and the motion was sent to a committee, from where it will emerge only in strongly modified form—if at all.

What has alarmed the genuine Democrats of all parties is the increasing boldness with which Right-wing extremists are trying to glorify the Nazi past and to describe the former Resistance fighters or anti-Nazi emigres, as traitors. The recent acquittal of Herr Hedler, charged with anti-Semitic utterances and slander against a Social Democrat leader, by a court on the formal ground that the specific insulting terms charged in view of conflicting testimony by many Hedler followers, has caused much heart-searching.

The Socialists immediately called for an investigation against the judges; the government has taken the view that the court's procedure was correct, but that there is a gap in the law to be filled by new legislation.

A Bill is being prepared to reintroduce penalties for high treason, attacks on the symbols of the Republic, conspiracy against the state, and anti-Semitic propaganda, as well as for "treason against peace." A Bill with a similar purpose has already been tabled by the Socialists. One problem these Bills will have to deal with is the composition of the judiciary. According to German official figures, which have never been denied, 75 to 80 per cent of the judges in the British zone are ex-members of the Nazi party.

UNDERMINED REPUBLIC

This is not the fault of the German authorities; the selection was made by the occupying powers, and the picture is rather better in the American zone and in the Bizonal High Court. It is true that few of these men were ever Nazis from real conviction, but it is also true that most of them are traditional anti-democrats who helped to undermine the Weimar Republic.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THE PROPOSAL by Senator'Brien McMahon (Dem., Conn.) that the United Nations hold peace talks in Moscow, in an attempt to establish global controls over atomic weapons, is being received with mixed emotions.

The consensus among observers is that every possible effort should be made to achieve peace and atomic control but there is a widespread feeling that hopes of a U.N. meeting in Moscow are nil.

President Truman yesterday said he is for any plan to utilize the U.N. in preserving the peace, but he never will go to Moscow as long as he is President. He didn't comment directly on the McMahon proposal.

The first barrier to carrying out the McMahon idea now is that Russia since Jan. 10 has been boycotting 13 organs of the U.N. over the red-hot Chinese question. Moscow demands that the Nationalists be evicted from the U.N., and the Chinese Communists be given their place. As long as this situation continues there is no chance of a Moscow meeting.

The Chinese issue must be settled first, and it is expected that a special assembly meeting will be held in New York this spring to deal with the matter.

Once the Chinese issue is settled, and Russia has abandoned her boycott of the U.N., the question of a meeting in Moscow could be taken up. But here again you come up against a stone wall.

The majority plan for atomic control by unlimited inspection of atomic plants in all countries has been approved by 49 of the 59 members of the U.N. Only the Soviet bloc has voted against it.

There are many who believe that it would be a good thing for all concerned if in due course there could be a meeting of the U.N. Assembly in Moscow, and in other major capitals for that matter. However, the staging of such a meeting would be a titanic job, involving the transfer from Lake Success of an army of personnel and mountainous equipment. The cost also would be huge, though peace at any monetary price could be cheap.

Edmonton Bulletin

If capitalism is to prove its superiority in dealing with humanity's material and spiritual needs, it will have to do better than dumping stores of good, edible food at a time when a high cost of living is forcing countless families to tighten their belts and forego not only small luxuries but also, in too many cases, even many essentials to good health.

"THAT WAS a hot one," said the Elevator Man, "about all the Bulgarians trying to leave home. Appears that when the United States broke off diplomatic relations with the Bulgars, half the population thought war had broken out. I don't suppose many of them made it, but they must have been in as big a hurry as an upcoming dog on a 'down' escalator. The Commies who run the show there can't have been very flattered. Mind the step!"

"Of course," said the Elevator Man, "anybody who talks war these days is a fool. You don't boast about having mental trouble in the family. But if there's going to be another war, I can't think of any place I'd rather be than in Canada. I think a lot of Bulgarians must agree with me. They sure don't seem to feel that way about Bulgaria. "It reminds me," said the Elevator Man, "of the story of the three little scouts who did their good turn by helping an old lady across the street. Well, the Russians 'helped' the Bulgars across to the left-hand side of the street, but they may take a little holding."

Three Coalition Members Belabor Government For Lack Of Action

By ALLAN JENKINS

The Provincial government was the target for the day in the Legislature Thursday although there wasn't even one C.C.F. member among the three speakers.

Spearheading the attack was W. A. C. Bennett (Cln., South Okanagan), who seemed to disagree with a lot of things the government was doing although he planted himself firmly in the ranks of the government parties. Just to prove it, he told C.C.F. opposition that it had no corner on the co-operative enterprise market which, he said, was a part of free enterprise. He looked on the B.C. Power Commission as part of legitimate public enterprise under a free enterprise system and was not prepared to give any ground to Socialist claims that this sort of thing was in their line only.

So far as the government was concerned, some of the several things Mr. Bennett did not see eye to eye with it on were school taxation, which he thought should have a uniform rate for all areas and hospital insurance which he described as a straight hospital tax.

He didn't like the government's treatment of the former administrator of the hospital scheme, Dr. J. M. Hershey, and he didn't like the government's plans for extension of the P.G.E. into North and West Vancouver before it pushed the railroad into northern B.C.

Mr. Bennett wasn't alone in his criticism of the government. A. W. Lundell (Cln., Revelstoke) wasn't too content with the way things were going in his riding, whose residents, he said, felt they were being continually overlooked. He praised the many potentialities of the area, spoke of the hopes and disappointments of its people and urged the Provincial government to do something about it.

Asking for a few minutes to refute the assumption that the Revelstoke riding was a frontier outpost, Mr. Lundell devoted himself to delving into the history of his area with its waterways, mountains, smelters, forest lands, mines and lush agricultural areas.

From his citadel, Mr. Bennett looked over the field of battle and observed that, while he had the most profound admiration for Minister of Finance Herbert Anscomb, he realized Mr. Anscomb had not yet reached a point in his career, where he (Mr. Bennett) could say of him as did Daniel Webster of Alexander Hamilton: "He smote the rock of our natural resources and streams of great revenue gushed forth. He touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprang to life."

No, said Mr. Bennett, the only member of the Fourth Estate left on the floor of the House since Mrs. Nancy Hodges became Madam Speaker, "We shall be satisfied if he will lay a larger supply main into our district from the streams he has already tapped."

The Coalition's Saanich member, Arthur Ash, spent a busy time, too, getting after the government for a variety of things he wanted to see done, including an early start on the Patricia Bay speed highway, a new police office for Sidney, an improvement in the health insurance scheme, ministerial attention to the poor drainage conditions in the unorganized territory of Saanich, and action on the secession problem in Saanich municipality.

Rotary Activities Net $9,319.58

Cheques totaling $9,319.58, were presented to Walter Fletcher, president of the city Rotary Club Thursday representing net profits from the service club's radio auction and ice carnival staged last December.

Net profits from the two-day Rotary Ice Carnival amounted to $5,985.73 after total expenses of $10,756.27 had been deducted. The radio auction brought in the net profit of $3,333.85. Amounts are scheduled to go directly towards Rotary activities and charities.

Revelstoke M.L.A. Pleads For Road Improvements

Poor road conditions in his riding, including a stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway, seemed to be the main concern of A. W. Lundell, M.L.A. for Revelstoke, who made numerous requests for improvements when he spoke before the Legislature Thursday afternoon.

The people in his riding felt they were being continually overlooked, he said.

With respect to the Big Bend on the Trans-Canada Highway, Mr. Lundell said it had always been regretted in his section of the province that part federal responsibility for maintenance of the road was not contained in the joint Dominion-provincial agreement which preceded its construction.

"This 180-mile stretch of road imposes a heavy responsibility on the province and consequently only the barest maintenance has been undertaken in the 10 years since it was finished."

Okanagan M.L.A. Wants Vote For 18-Year-Olds

Granting of the right to vote to 18-year-olds was advocated in the Legislature Thursday afternoon by W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, who also wanted to see adoption of the transferable vote method in future provincial elections.

"Our greatest resources are our young men and women, but we don't give them a chance to have a say in the elections," said the South Okanagan member. He disagreed with the opinion of some that the younger generation of today was "going to the dogs."

He argued that the 18-year-olds had had the benefit of 12 years' school and had qualifications as high as many an adult. "They served us well in time of war. I'm sure they'd serve as well in peace," said Mr. Bennett.

WANTS HOSPITAL TAX

On the question of hospital insurance, Mr. Bennett wanted the scheme to be called a straight hospital tax. He wanted the finance department to look after its collection and he wanted a payroll deduction plan which, he said, would be nothing compared to other classes of deductions B.C. merchants already had to make.

The costs of collection should not be five or six per cent, they should be a fraction of one per cent, he said.

He said it was a shame and a

Asks Early Vote On Secession

Hope for an early provincial government decision to seek an expression of opinion by ballot on the outer wards' secession in Saanich was expressed by A. J. R. Ash in the Legislature Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Ash wanted the expression by ballot as he said he felt it would be unwise for the government to decide on a petition which was taken eight or nine years ago on the question.

At the same time, Mr. Ash drew to the attention of the government what he termed the deplorable condition of the 14 by 20-foot police station at Sidney. He asked for construction of a simple but modern building to look after the needs of North Saanich.

Health Insurance Commission Asked

Member For Saanich Proposes Investigation Of Discontent

Reforms in the province's hospital insurance scheme, including administration of the scheme by an independent commission similar to the B.C. Power Commission, was advocated by A. J. R. Ash, M.L.A. for Saanich.

Mr. Ash regretted the hospital insurance scheme had received so much public criticism during the first year of operation.

"I feel it would be unwise to minimize this fact," he said. "The success of the scheme depends so greatly on public confidence and support that I think the government should make the most searching enquiry into the causes of public discontent and should seek the assistance of members of the House in finding a solution to the problems that have arisen."

Mr. Ash had some suggestions of his own for solution of the scheme's problems.

Mr. Ash wanted the independent commission, consisting of three members or more. He believed that one member should be a hospital administrator of proven ability and one a medical doctor.

He said the question of controlling costs was vastly important to the ultimate success of the scheme and he did not see how this could be done successfully without the constant counsel of some person who knew hospital administration intimately from admitting room to operating room.

He felt it was only prudent to have someone who understood the problems of medical men as one of the top executives of the plan.

"Without the advice of such a person, it seems to me inevitable that regulations established by the commission may, from time to time, not prove strictly practical from a medical point of view," he said.

Inasmuch as he understood some persons were staying in hospital longer than strictly necessary, Mr. Ash thought

What the people wanted, he said, was a uniform basis of taxation. He suggested that rather than give the sales tax grant to the municipalities individually, it spread the money out for equalization of the tax rate in all municipalities.

This last suggestion brought Premier Byron Johnson to his feet. He said, if the municipalities wanted it, the government would earmark the sales tax for education and social welfare exclusively, but he warned they would find themselves in the same position in which the unorganized territories were.

As Mr. Bennett continued to press the point, the Premier said, "If we hear any more about it in this session, we will earmark it."

Dealing with Pacific Great Eastern, Mr. Bennett advocated the railway should be extended into the Peace River country, prior to any railroad into North or West Vancouver.

He pointed out that if the railroad went into the Peace River country it would secure enormous new freight tonnage and would as well make a much shorter rail haul to the Alaska Highway.

LAND VALUES LEVELING OFF

OTTAWA (CP) — The climb in the value of Canadian land soon may be levelling off.

This is predicted by the Bureau of Statistics in a survey of 1949 land values on Canadian farms.

The average value per acre amounted to $40, an increase of $1 from 1948, smallest climb in five years.

However, the 1949 average per acre was $10 greater than in 1945, when the big climb began.

Merge Departments For Economy, Member Advises

Amalgamation of a number of government departments to effect economy in the provincial budget is being advocated by Saanich's M.L.A., A. J. R. Ash.

In the Legislature Thursday afternoon, Mr. Ash proposed amalgamation of the Department of Trade and Industry and the Department of Fisheries with the Department of Lands and Forests, and amalgamation of the railways branch with the Department of Public Works.

This amalgamation, he believed, would overcome inefficiency and overlapping of government expenses. He thought the two departments could handle the work of the other three.

As an example of overlapping he mentioned the many pamphlets published by the trade and industry department which, he said, contained statistical information that could be obtained from the Dominion government.

CINDERELLA TEAM MAKES ANOTHER BID

Fort Frances Out For Allan Cup Hockey Triumph

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Fort Frances Canadiens, the "Cinderella team" of last year, again are on the 'prowl' for the Allan Cup.

The team, which extended the favored Regina Capitals to the five-game limit in last season's western Canada senior hockey final before going down to defeat, starts on the first leg of the long playoff trail tonight.

Winners of practically every honor in the Northern Amateur League this winter, Canadians open at home in a best-of-seven series against Port Arthur Bearcats, Thunder Bay representatives.

The series winner will meet the Western Canada League champions, providing Manitoba does not come up with a senior representative. (There was no senior league in Manitoba this winter.)

The series with Port Arthur marks the first time in history that Fort Frances has been chosen as the site of association playoffs. Last year Canadians played away games in each series with the Thunder Bay, Manitoba, and W.C.S.H.L. representatives.

10,000 SUPPORTERS

It's little wonder the 10,000 residents of this northwestern Ontario town are going hockey mad. They're pinning their hopes on Canadians to give them their first Allan Cup.

Last year nobody outside of their own loyal community took them seriously at first. But hockey fans sat up and took notice as they bumped off Port Arthur, the Winnipeg nationals, and downed Regina 5 to 4 in the first game of the final.

It's history that they dropped the series, but Canadians put Fort Frances on the hockey map.

V.H.S. Squad Unbeaten In School League

The undefeated House Four team moved into sole possession of first place in the Interhigh Senior Basketball League yesterday by trouncing Esquimalt Whites 52 to 22. It was the fifth straight victory for the Vic High quintette.

House Four had things to their own liking out at the Fraser Street Tall. They grabbed a 13-point advantage at the interval and then went on to outscore the Whites 26 to 9 during the last 20 minutes. Bob Rowe and Pete Zarry paved the way with 14 markers apiece.

House Two strengthened its grip on second place in the standings by knocking the Oak Bay Greens from their first place tie with a 32 to 24 decision. Game was close most of the way, but winners gained their eight-point advantage in the second half.

Two games were played at Vic High with the home squad coming out on top in each case. House One, valiantly, lost to House Whites 45 to 29 and House Three led by Gerry Parker with 22 points, trimmed Esquimalt Reds 44 to 24.

In the fifth game, Mount Douglas came through for its second straight decision, a narrow 27 to 26 verdict over Mount View High.

UPSETS CONTINUE IN BADMINTON PLAY

Another Pair Of B.C. Champions Bite The Dust At Calgary Event

CALGARY (CP)—Toronto net stars today have one title tucked away, and a chance to sweep all five events of the Dominion badminton championships, now at the half-way mark.

The easterners last night dampened Vancouver's hopes of retaining the women's doubles title, ousting the west coast city's Dominion championship team and placing players in all four semifinal brackets.

Little dark-eyed Mary Gill and court-mate Edith Marshall were the talk of competitor and spectator alike. They surprised even themselves with a gruelling three-set win over Claire Lovett and Jean Bardsley.

The Toronto contingent placed in 19 of 32 semifinal spots. Vancouver, whose athletes took home four of the five Dominion titles last year, was a poor second with nine in the running;

Calgary placed three and Winnipeg one. Jean Bardsley and Daryl Thompson of Vancouver advanced to the mixed doubles semi, where they met Norm Mustart and Norah Maw, also of Vancouver. Thompson and Ken Meredith, defending titlists in men's doubles, walked into the semi. They met Calgary's Al Williams and Jim Forsyth of Vancouver tonight.

Ontario's provincial mixed champs—Ev. Robert and Dick Birch of Toronto, meet Barbara Ince and Grant Henry of Toronto.

B.C. CHAMPS BEATEN

Henry and Dave Clapton of Calgary teamed to dump B.C. champions Norm Mustart and Bert Jones. Their semifinal opponents in men's doubles will be Bud Porter and Dick Birch, Ontario champs.

The race for the men's singles title, undefended by Johnny

Samis of Vancouver, remains wide open. Daryl Thompson, B.C. single champ, meets Jack Muir of Toronto; and Al Williams, Alberta and Saskatchewan champion, meets Don Smyth of Toronto.

In women's singles, one Torontonian will make the final. Marj Mapp and Marj Shedd, both from the eastern city, tangle in one match, and Lois Reid of Vancouver and Kay Otton of Winnipeg meet in the other. Miss Mapp is defending champion, Miss Otton holds the Manitoba title, and Miss Shedd wears the Ontario crown.

Final Instructions For Silver Gloves

Members of the Esquimalt Boxing Club hold a final session with Coach Tommy Burgess in preparation for tomorrow night's British Columbia Silver Gloves boxing championships at the Armories. Tournament will include champions from Vancouver and Fraser Valley.

'Muzz' Might Yet Eat Those Words

Bill Terry of the New York Giants baseball team once said: "Is Brooklyn still in the National League?" The Dodgers then promptly proceeded to knock the Giants out of the National League championship.

Now Muzz Patrick of Tacoma has asked: "Are the Cougars still in the league?" History could be repeated although the league championship is not at stake.

The Rockets who play the Cougars here tonight are in no way certain of a northern-division Coast Hockey League playoff berth and a defeat tonight would do little to improve the situation.

Seattle at present holds the upper hand in the battle for the three playoff berths—New Westminster being assured of first place. Tacoma and Portland are tied for third place, one point behind the Ironmen with Vancouver in fifth spot, but only two points out of second place.

COUGARS HOLD EDGE
Believe it or not, statistics favor the Cougars as Tacoma has yet to win a game here this season. But the percentage says Tacoma. The Rockets are due for a win on Canadian ice. They haven't had one all year.

Not only is the league race in the closing stages of the P.C.H.L. campaign interesting but there is a terrific fight being waged for the league scoring championship. And in the thick of the scramble are four members of the high-scoring Rockets. Bobby Ballance of Vancouver holds a one-point lead at present with Ronnie Rowe. Wingy Johnston and Mel Read of the Rockets first string line right on his heels, left-winger Rowe has 76 points, the same number as Johnston while Read is fourth with 74 points. Doug Adam the league's leading sniper with 48 goals has 72 points and is still within hailing distance of the leaders.

Adam is also only two goals shy of Pat Desbriens' league scoring mark of 50 goals.

Following tonight's game the Cougars clash with the Rockets again at Tacoma Saturday morning on to Vancouver for a game with the Canucks Tuesday.

DISTRICT SOCCER TEAMS IN CUP FINAL MINUS CUP

A cup final without a cup.

That's the situation today as Esquimalt and Victoria West of the Victoria and District Soccer League await tomorrow's Garrison Cup final and league championship match at Athletic Park at 2:30.

League secretary Don Gray admitted today the Garrison Trophy could not be located but the final would go on nevertheless. Victoria West apparently won the cup last year but whether they got it or not is another question. At any rate they haven't got it now.

The match promises to be one of the best of the season with the teams evenly matched and season-long rivals for supremacy in the district loop.

In Sunday's scheduled contest Heaney's and Navy will clash in a Phoenix Cup replay at lower Beacon Hill at 2:30.

Rep Selectors Seek To Plug Tide Weaknesses

With two more McKechnie Cup matches remaining on the schedule, the local rep-selection committee will be taking more than ordinary interest in tomorrow's first division English rugby match at Macdonald Park.

The Crimston Tide needs bolstering in a few positions and the match between Oak Bay Wanderers and Victoria College may provide the answer.

It will be the first game of the second half schedule. College won the first half championship.

In a second division match on the lower field at 2:15, Victoria College's second fifteen will meet Fifth Regiment.

The Victoria reps will play on the mainland next Thursday.

Last-Place Hawks Still Show Fight

Beat Canucks; Bentley Fires 202nd Counter

Coach Charlie Conacher couldn't make a championship contender of the material he acquired when he took over the leadership of Chicago Black Hawks. But he certainly turned them into a fighting team.

Conacher's "never-say-die" Hawks walloped Montreal Canadiens 5 to 2 in Chicago last night, spoiling Montreal's chances of taking sole possession of third place in the National Hockey League.

The game had virtually no effect on the standings. Detroit leads by nine points over Toronto, with Montreal and New York still tied for third and five points back. Boston, in fifth place, is five games behind New York, and Chicago is another game and a half behind Boston.

The Hawks splurged for three last-period goals. Doug Bentley scored twice, to raise his lifetime N.H.L. total to 202 goals. Pep Guldollin, Jim Conacher and Metro Prystall also scored for Chicago. Maurice Richard got his 33rd goal of the season for Canadiens and Ken Mosdell bagged their other markers.

DURNAN HURT

Montreal's veteran goalie Bill Durnan received a nasty scalp cut early in the final period. He was diving in an attempt to save off Jim Conacher when Conacher's skate caught him high on the forehead. The game was held up 20 minutes while several stitches were made.

Highlight of the week-end's five games will be the clash at Toronto tomorrow night between the Leafs and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings. At Montreal the Canadiens will entertain the Black Hawks while the New York Rangers play at Boston.

Sunday night Rangers host Toronto while Chicago plays at Boston.

SUMMARY
First Period—1, Chicago, Guldollin (Stewart, Durnan), 9:01. Penalties: Guldollin (Curry), 4:23; 2, Chicago, Bentley (Mosdell, Stewart), 18:09. Penalties: McCalg, Mackay, Bouchard, Prystall.

Young Hamilton Runner Steals Meet Spotlight

TORONTO (CP)—Stan Worthington, 19-year-old Hamilton runner, stole the show from the "name" athletes Thursday night when he defeated British Empire games athlete Gordon Crosby of Toronto in the eastern Canada indoor track and field championships.

The youngster, running over an asphalt track at the Toronto Armories, came up a winner by a whisker over the Toronto policeman in the men's open hurdles event. Most of the ballyhooed stars came through as expected, but Worthington's effort in beating Crosby, Canadian open 120-yard high hurdles champion, was the tid-bit of the 24-event program.

Six Canadian indoor records fell, including one in the pole vault by the Rev. Bob Richards of the Illinois Theological school, who was looked upon to climb up to 15 feet or better. He did an even 14 feet, one foot, three inches better than the mark set by Vic Packard of Hamilton about 20 years ago.

Other records were cracked in the men's open two-mile, midget 500-yard, men's 600-yard and junior mile and junior 50-yard events.

Blacks Win Girls' Basketball Clash

With Patsy Wright and Phyllis Cockburn looping 12 and 10 points, respectively, the Victoria High School Blacks eliminated Oak Bay High from further competition in the Interhigh senior girls' basketball playoffs yesterday by the tune of 30 to 18.

Individual scoring leader of the tilt was Oak Bay's Louise Slater, who notched all but four of her squad's total points.

Norwegian Wins North American Cross-Country

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Two Austrian students from the University of Innsbruck, who became engaged during an honor-studded tour of ski championship meets in Canada and the United States, are top contenders in competitions today for two Canadian titles.

Blonde Dagmar Rom, who last week won the North American slalom and alpine combined titles is favored to capture the women's downhill against seven other racers from Austria, Canada and the U.S. The 21-year-old speedster last month won world slalom honors at Aspen, Colorado.

Egon Schopf, her 23-year-old fiance, will race down snow-capped Mount Norquay against 46 senior men in the downhill. Schopf, finished second here last week to Zeno Colo of Italy in the North American downhill.

CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMP

Yesterday Hans Holsaas, 26-year-old Norwegian immigrant now working in a Eugene, Ore., lumber mill, won the North American cross-country title. Holsaas, winner last year of the U.S. national cross-country, poled the 11-mile endurance test in one hour, nine minutes and 59 seconds.

Erick Bodin, 17, of Kimberley, B.C., won the Canadian junior title, out-racing five other youths over a five-mile course. His time was 35 minutes, 45 seconds.

Lester Patrick Tells Truth Of Cyclone Taylor's Weird Acts

To old hockey players and to most Canadians over 40 this statement will come as a shattering heresy. And inevitably, to prove that hockey has become a sissy game, they will retell the legend of Cyclone Taylor, who used to bet that he could score goals skating backward and win his bets every time.

Lester played with Taylor and thinks him the greatest hockey performer in history, but he saw the original incident from the ice and herewith deflates the legend for the first time:

"In 1909-10 Taylor and I were playing for Renfrew. Taylor had played for the Silver Seven of Ottawa (what a team!) and now he was back in Ottawa to play against his old teammates. He was a modest fellow and still is, and a very fine gentleman, but he liked to joke in those days. And in the old Windsor Hotel, before the game, some sports writers asked him how he expected to get past the Ottawa defence. Taylor laughed—that contagious boy's laugh of his. 'Why,' he said, 'I can score on those fellows skating backward.'

"Well, of course he didn't mean it seriously. But on one of his rushes the Ottawa defence stopped him cold and turned him around with his back to the Ottawa goal. He flipped the puck, back-handed. It nosed past the goaltender. I was on the ice and saw the whole thing and we went on playing. But by the time the sports writers had finished with it you'd have thought the Cyclone had deliberately won a bet, and you'd have thought he repeated this performance just about every night afterward. The Cyclone didn't make the legend. The public did.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Strolling into the arena Tuesday night chunky Bill Carse of the Vancouver Canucks was a perfect example of what the well-dressed hockey coach should wear. "Say, this coach business is first class—they even let you walk in the front door," cracked the likeable Carse.

Carse made it quite definite he is all through as a player. "I didn't hang 'em up this time but threw them out the back door," declared Bill when questioned as to what he had done with his skates.

Injuries Forced Carse's Decision

Carse disclosed this was the third time he had decided to call it a day. His decision to confine his activities to coaching came when he started to pick up injuries. "When it got to the point where I just didn't have that little bit extra to keep away from the bumps I knew it was time to give up the game to the youngsters."

The former National Hockey League has always struck the writer as a chap who knows where he's going. His future with the Vancouver club is a moot question. Owner Coley Hall is a tough task master as evidenced by the turn-over of coaches in his employ. The roster reads like an all-star N.H.L. lineup. If Carse gets the Canucks into the league playoffs his job may be safe for at least one more season.

Maybe Mr. Hall Has Something

Speaking of Hall, I found him in a most happy frame of mind Tuesday night—even before it became evident his Canucks would pull off a win. Figured it was a good chance to learn his feelings towards continued operation of the southern division of the Coast League.

"Well, Pete, you just can't kick them out," he said. "Our big hope is that the southern division clubs decide themselves they can't go another season. That would leave us in the clear to build up one of the strongest minor pro leagues in hockey."

Hall then disclosed he is a strong supporter of a proposal to move Calgary and Edmonton into the Coast League. "They would be natural from the standpoint of spectator appeal. The travel costs would not be too great with both prairie cities only 25 hours train time out of Vancouver. Of course the present Edmonton and Calgary teams of the Western Canada League are not of Coast League calibre and don't ever let anybody tell you different. When a player like Bob Wiest can go from your Cougars and star in the prairie league that's the best evidence of the calibre of hockey those outfits are playing."

Doc Webster Still Holds Record

When Johnny Clark put on that dazzling exhibition to score 32 points for the Y.M.C.A. in the basketball playoff series against Alberta there was some talk it might be a record. Was informed today of a 33-point performance by former star Dr. Art Webster over 20 years ago for the old First Presbyterian Club. In a series against the Huskies, Webster wrapped up 33 points.

In passing it is interesting to note that the "First Pres" were the first club to bring the B.C. senior men's title to Victoria. Other members included Cal Little, Bob Whyte, Art Boyd and Angie McKinnon.

Eastern Curlers Seek To End Western Supremacy

VANCOUVER (CP)—The hard fact western Canada leads by a wide margin in Canadian curling championship victories faces eastern rinks due here for the classic starting March 6.

In the four days and nine draws of the round-robin series, the east stands a mathematically slim chance of wresting the championship from Manitoba, current holders.

That's strictly the story the records tell.

Broken down, those figures show that a Manitoba grip on the trophy has been pretty secure, they've three times as many championships as their nearest competitors, Alberta with four, and the best the east has been able to muster is two victories for Ontario and one for Nova Scotia.

British Columbia has contributed one victory to the western cause and Saskatchewan, second twice and third four times, never has won.

It will be up to Bill McTavish, Winnipeg skip, to retain the

HODGSON STARS IN NANAIMO PUCK WIN

Goalkeeper Blocks 47 Shots In Brilliant Display; Victoria Midgets Drop Opener

Standout figure on Memorial Arena ice last night as Nanaimo won the Island junior hockey championship was Spanky Hodgson, goalkeeper for the up-island team.

Hodgson was slightly more than sensational as he sparked the coal town squad to a 5 to 3 triumph over the Victoria champions, Royal Canadian Navy, for Nanaimo's second straight triumph in the best-of-three series. Nanaimo won the first game at Nanaimo, 6 to 2.

Hodgson stopped 47 Navy shots during the game including five in the final half-minute of play when Navy threw six forwards down the ice in an attempt to knot the score. In comparison Nanaimo only had 22 shots at the Navy goal.

Taking advantage of their relatively few scoring opportunities the up-islanders jumped into a two-goal lead in the first period on markers by Allen and Hinkman. Harris of the champions made it 3 to 0 at the five-minute mark of the second period. Godbout and Smith scored for the sailors before the end of the stanza but Hinkman notched his second marker for Nanaimo early in the final period to provide the clincher.

Helgeson for Nanaimo and Buick for Navy concluded the scoring.

MIDGETS LOSE

In the first game of total-goal series for the island midget championship, Nanaimo edged Victoria 2 to 1 coming from behind to score the triumph.

Harold Dawson gave Victoria the lead in the first period. Doug Hole tied the count for Nanaimo in the second stanza and Milburn fired the winner in the final frame.

Sensors trimmed Hawks, 5 to 1, in a city juvenile league play-off tilt. Parker scored three goals for the winners.

Nanaimo Quits Football Loop; Royals Lose Park

The withdrawal of Nanaimo from membership, and New Westminster's temporary loss of their ground at Queen's Park, means that a new schedule will be required for the second half of the Pacific Coast League soccer program.

The Nanaimo club dropped out officially last night when their representative, Nat Bevis, informed the P.C. League delegates that the departure since Christmas of seven players including Wallace Milligan, had made it impossible for Nanaimo to continue.

He also said that poor gates indicated that at the moment Nanaimo could not support Coast League soccer. At the same time he protested the B.C. Commission's action in extending the transfer deadline because of bad weather from Dec. 31 to Jan. 31. This, he claimed, had cost his club the services of three players they could not afford to lose.

LOSE PARK

The second schedule snarl was applied by Vic Sortwell, Royals' delegate, who indicated that Queen's Park would not be available for New Westminster's home matches for some considerable time.

Queen's Park is being enlarged and modernized, and when completed will have seating accommodation for 15,000 spectators. It will be an all-concrete affair, and is expected to be the finest grounds of its type in Canada.

There is to be a full-size running track around the football pitch, and the indications are that Queen's Park will be nominated as a possible site for the Empire Games of 1952.

Vic Sortwell suggested the remedy would be for New Westminster to play their remaining home league matches on Callister Park on Wednesday evenings in the case of mainland club opposition, and on a Sunday against Victoria United.

The suggestion was left to the clubs for discussion.

Seattle Stars To Play In Paddle Meet Tonight

Play in the Victoria City Table Tennis tournament got under way in the clubrooms at the Strathcona Hotel last night with the feature match being a five-set affair between Eric Goodwin and Tommy Lowe.

Lowe won the marathon series, 21-17, 21-16, 14-21, 19-21, 21-19. Jim Davidson edged Sohan Singh, 21-17, 17-21, 21-18, and then paired with Lowe to oust Will Browne-Cave and Goodwin from the men's doubles, 21-17, 20-22, 21-19, 21-15.

In other singles matches, Browne-Cave stopped Bob Canova in four games and Val Druce took J. Carly in straight games.

Lindquist and Ray Dawson eliminated Cardy and Browne-Cave from the mixed doubles, 21-16, 21-19, 21-18. Feature of tonight's schedule will be the first appearance of Eddie DeVito, Washington State champion, and two other Seattle paddle stars, Bert Hansen and Roland Jones.

Players are requested to be on time.

HOOP LEAGUE RESCINDS FINE

VANCOUVER (CP)—

Eagle-Time hoopers lost the Vancouver senior men's basketball championship to the Dominion champion Clover Leafs Wednesday, but they received some balm for their wounds Thursday.

Luke Moyle, president of the Vancouver Senior League, announced that a previously levied $100 fine against the club for defying the circuit heads had been rescinded. The fine was handed out after Eagle-Time appealed a decision, which defaulted them in the city final, to the B.C. Commission and were upheld.

Poodle Has Lead Role In Film

Very few film actors can retire on the success of one leading part, but Monty, who plays himself in N. A. Bronsten's "The Hidden Room" coming to the Odeon Theatre Monday, has achieved this ambition and retired into private life.

Monty is a white French poodle who plays a key part in the picture with Robert Newton, Sally Gray, Naumton Wayne and Phil Brown. He has almost as big a part as the human actors, and plays it with complete confidence, and as though he really enjoys it, which everyone on the picture believes he did.

He had a stand-in (stuffed) for the tedious business of lighting and rehearsal, while he himself ran about the stage accepting tidbits from the actors and technicians and making friends with everybody.

Bette Davis Free-Lances Would Act In 'Ethan Frome'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Feeling like "a fish out of water" after 18 years at Warner Brothers, Bette Davis says she is getting readjusted to the freelance life.

Eight months ago, the actress left Warners after a record contract, during which she won two Academy awards.

"It wasn't easy," she related. "It was hard to leave behind the people you had worked with so many years. They seemed like a family—in fact, I saw more of them than I did my family."

She had a stand-in (stuffed) for the tedious business of lighting and rehearsal, while he himself ran about the stage accepting tidbits from the actors and technicians and making friends with everybody.

two grown children in "The Story of a Divorce."

Bette told of her trepidation in making tests for the part: "I peered around the set and didn't see a familiar face. There was also a feeling of strangeness because I hadn't been before a camera in eight months. Suddenly I had a sensation I hadn't felt in years—'Will they think I can act well enough to get the role?'"

RECONSIDERING

She now is considering other film offers and would even welcome a return to her old alma mater, Warners.

"They have one thing I want and that is 'Ethan Frome,'" she declared. "I was scheduled to do it, but it was called off when I got pregnant."

"I can't understand why it was passed by, and pictures like 'Beyond the Forest' were made over the protests of all of us. That was a grim, dull picture with no uplift whatsoever. At least 'Ethan Frome' has a beautiful love story."

himself into some contract. Barry likes to bid and he did not like the idea of West trying to shut him out of the bidding.

The opening lead of the king of hearts was won by Jack, sitting South, with the ace. A small spade was led and when West played low, dummy's seven was played. East won the trick with the jack. East, not having a heart, returned a small club which declarer won with the ace.

The ace of diamonds was now played. Of course, the drop of the king by West warned Jack of a singleton, so at this point, after the ace of diamonds held the trick, he cashed the ace of spades. He then led the six of spades and won the trick in dummy, which picked up the outstanding trumps.

The eight of diamonds was played and when East refused to cover Jack let it ride. He took another diamond finesse which established the diamond suit. In this way the only loss on the hand was a spade, heart and a club, making four-odd.

The story was especially written for Tracy and Miss Hepburn by Ruth Gordon and Garson Kanin, author of Broadway's uproarious "Born Yesterday."

SO HUMAN IS ROBOT that it cheats. Noel Penney Elliott, 18-year-old high school senior of Kellogg, Ida., works on his home-built mechanical brain, a machine that, he says, can beat any human at "tic-tac-toe." The game is played by switches and lights and the machine wins about 40 per cent of the time and ties its human opponent the rest. If the operator isn't careful the machine will try to chisel a bit. Elliott, who has been working on electricity and electronics since his grade-school days, is in Washington, D.C., competing for $11,000 in a scholarship contest.

Open Drains, Ditches Draw Criticism Of Saanich M.L.A.

A review of the drainage situation in the unorganized territory of Saanich by the Minister of Public Works and the Minister of Health is being sought by A. J. R. Ash, M.L.A. for Saanich.

Mr. Ash, speaking in the Legislature Thursday afternoon, said the unorganized territory had deplorable conditions regarding its open drains and ditches.

As the territory had a population of nearly 30,000, the Saanich member thought precautions should be taken to protect the health of the people.

"Continual complaints are being made and I hope we will not wait until an epidemic takes place before something is done," he said.

When representatives of that district had written to the Department of Public Works, he said, the deputy minister had replied it was a matter for the Department of Health, and when the health department was notified, officials replied that it was a matter for the Department of Public Works.

The matter stands at that point now, according to Mr. Ash, who said he hoped the ministers would give the matter their attention and recommend some satisfactory solution.

Screen Writer Tells How Prayer Reshaped Lives Of Herself, Others

Which is it with you—"My will be done" or "Thy will be done?" Ask this question of yourself if you wonder why your prayers are not answered. Clara Beranger (Mrs. William C. deMille) is an instructor of screenwriting at the University of Southern California and author of the book, "You Can Be Happy."

By CLARA BERANGER

About 10 years ago, I found myself in a difficult situation with a problem that seemed unsolvable. I prayed, but nothing seemed to happen. I was becoming more and more nervous and unhappy.

A friend, who had never talked religion to me, asked what my trouble was. In despair, I blurted out the story.

"Have you tried prayer?" she asked.

"Yes, but a lot of good that's done me," I answered bitterly.

Quietly she spoke of ways of praying. Without criticizing or condemning me, she made me see that I was clogging the channel between me and the Father with negative thoughts; that in all prayer, it is necessary to have a clean heart and an open mind.

"The first step in prayer," she said, "is to let go of what we think or want and place ourselves and our affairs lovingly in the hands of the Father. Try that the next time you pray. Let go, get yourself quiet and calm. State your problem to God and then say:

Clara Beranger

"Dear Father, I leave this to You. I know You will show me the right way." Then forget your problem. Believe with all your heart that God hears you and will give you the answer.

That night I followed her suggestion. I repeated over and over again, "I leave this problem lovingly in the hands of the Father."

In the morning, like a flash of light, a solution was shown to me, so simple that I wondered why it had never occurred to me before. I followed the way God led. The situation cleared, and my nervousness and worry disappeared.

Since that time I have had many occasions to say for myself and for others: "Lovingly in the hands of the Father." And it has never failed me. I learned this truth the hard way. Ever since I can remember, I have believed in God, but my times of prayer were irregular, and my method was that of begging for something I particularly wanted.

FINDS ANSWER

Many people who have faith in God, and believe theoretically in the power of prayer, wonder sometimes, as I did, why their prayers are not answered as they would like. I think that phrase "as they would like" supplies the answer.

We say "Thy will be done," but most of the time we think "my will be done." We offer a blueprint of what we want to God, instead of realizing that God sees not only what we want at the moment, but the pattern of our whole life. He knows what is right for us, and His will for us is always good. If we believe that with all our mind and heart and mean it when he pray "Thy will be done," we shall receive all that we ask.

A FRIEND'S PROBLEM

Just recently, a dear friend came to me and asked for spiritual help. She is a widow, the only support of herself and her child. Her work, which is highly specialized, has been falling off and she has not been able to make enough for their immediate needs. She said that she has been praying regularly but with no results.

I told her my own experience and repeated what my friend had taught me about prayer. "I will pray with you now. Let us start by saying that we erase all worry and fear for the future, and place your problem lovingly in the hands of the Father. And let us believe, as we pray, that God is hearing us and that our words will not return to us void."

We entered the silence together and prayed quietly and silently for a few moments. Then I said aloud: "Father, we leave this lovingly in Thy hands."

After the prayer we talked for a little while and when my friend left, she said: "Somehow I feel much better. I believe things will clear up for me."

Two days later she telephoned and said excitedly that a company for whom she had never worked before called her. She was starting in with them the next day and they had promised her as much work as she could handle. "I give thanks to God every minute—and I'll never lose my faith again," she said.

WE SLIP BACK

Right after a demonstration, we are sure we shall never lose faith again! But in the pressure of externals, when the world is too much with us, we are apt to slip back into our old ways of materialistic thinking and living; to forget that spiritual success, like success in art, athletics or business, means daily discipline. Muscles grow strong through exercise. So does the soul. God is always ready for us. Are we always ready for Him?

If you have not been successful in prayer, try taking an honest mental inventory of your spiritual habits. Do you keep in active touch with God, or do you just go to Him when you want something?

Do you take a few moments out for your busy life every day to read a page or two of the Bible or other inspirational writing, or to sit quietly and think of God and His blessings you have received?

Do you review your day's activities at night to see what mistakes you may have made, or what good you have accomplished?

A GOOD WAY

This nightly review is the best means I know to even the balance between your materialistic and spiritual thought and action. If you have prayed for good health and continue to be ill, ask yourself if you have been thinking and talking illness. If you have prayed for prosperity and it has not come to you, find out if you have been fearing poverty. Success in prayer requires constant affirmative thinking, not only when we want some particular thing from God, but when we seem to have all that we need.

Whenever I have prayed with faith and heart clean and pure, with not too definite an outline of how my needs should be met, I have received an answer. And always the answer proved to be for my best good. I could not always see this at the time because what was revealed to me may have differed from what my personal will had dictated. But later I saw that God's will for us was better than my will for myself.

Tomorrow: When the spark of religion was ignited, a clerk who had never earned more than $35 a week, jumped rapidly into the $10,000-a-year class. John Glossinger, retired president of the Kny-Scheerer Corp., tells the story.

Bill Before House Cover Pensions, Insurance, Gas

An easing of the penalty imposed on drivers charged for using tax-free agricultural gasoline is contained in one of nine bills introduced to the Legislature Thursday afternoon.

Under the Motor Gasoline Act, forfeiture of the offender's vehicle was mandatory, but the amendment provides that such forfeiture shall be up to the discretion of the magistrate.

Another of the bills made provision for the government to pay hospital insurance deficits with $2,500,000 from revenue surplus. Another bill would leave the way open for civil servants to alter the basis of their pensions under the Municipal Superannuation Act where, previously, they had been required to stay with the pensions plan they had selected.

Others provided for: Technical changes to the Mining Tax Act; removing the date of "June 30, 1950, for repayment of loans under the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Construction Loan Act of 1928 and replace it with "but not later than 50 years after the date thereof," and removing a more equitable taxation of improvements over water, removing taxes from stripped timber lands when they were for sustained yield and clarify evaluation of a going concern.

BAGS COUGARS WITH PEAKEY

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A spear-pointed logging "peavey," a lethal weapon in the hands of an expert, bagged two cougars for J. Morrison Kispick.

Kispick, hauling logs, was confronted by the two "cats" in woods near here. The Indian woodsman killed both after a short battle.

Found Guilty Threatening Navy Officer

Wilfred Pomeroy, 960 Laverder Avenue, was found guilty in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon on a charge of having threatened the life of Cmdr. Ronald Jackson, H.M.C. Dockyard, a former employer.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall, in passing judgment, ordered Pomeroy to put up a $500 bond himself and to get a surety to post a $500 bond on a promise to be of good behavior and to keep the peace.

During trial, Cmdr. Jackson testified Pomeroy phoned him one night and told him "get this straight, I'll kill you." Pomeroy denied making the threat. Telephone company officials testified a call was made from Pomeroy's exchange to Cmdr. Jackson on the day in question.

As Magistrate Hall was handing down his judgment, Pomeroy attempted to interrupt remarks. The magistrate warned accused his antagonistic behavior was not helping his case.

Former Japanese Exporter Dies

Born in Yokohama, Japan, on Jan. 2, 1878, but a resident of the city since his retirement in 1923, Fred Pollard, 72, of 905 Vancouver Street, died Tuesday in the Jubilee Hospital. He had been ill for nine weeks.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. Frederick Pike will officiate.

The late Mr. Pollard received his education in England but returned to Japan to join the firm of Vivanti Bros., exporters of raw silk. He eventually became a senior partner and closed the firm with his retirement in 1923.

He was a keen sportsman, being primarily interested in rugby, rowing, tennis and hiking.

Ash Complains Of Delay On Highway To Pat Bay

A protest against the manner in which the provincial government had delayed the Patricia Bay speed highway project was made in the Legislature Thursday afternoon by A. J. R. Ash, M.L.A. for Saanich.

Mr. Ash reminded the House that, as far back as 1948, the highway became part of government policy. Since then, he said, several statements had been made from time to time, saying surveys were under way and, when they were completed, a decision would be made and work begun.

"Finally, to the surprise of many in the Greater Victoria district, we were told that there were no engineers available to do the work."

"This statement, in my opinion, is not good enough," said the Saanich member. "I am reliably informed that there are several road construction firms ready to do this job at any time."

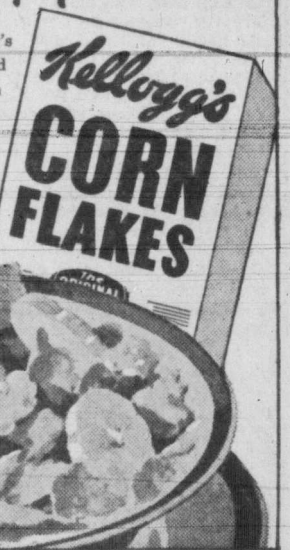

"The time has arrived when I think the government should proceed with this work. The people in the Greater Victoria area expect action on this highway and fulfillment of the promise made to them in 1948."

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1950

By ART STOTT

OVERHEAD LIGHT and telephone wires are different these days. They haven't the same number of broken kites and "nobbies" hanging from them. There aren't as many fields for the youngsters to fly their kites, and "nobbies," the game an earlier generation used to play with sticks and two small pieces of hose tied together, has graduated to lacrosse.

But the overhead wires are still ugly. And in spite of new, cheaper methods of laying them underground, they'll probably stay for some time.

KEN REID, chief electrical engineer for the city, can picture a Victoria without them.

"I can visualize it," he says. "But I can't see it in my time. The outlook's not hopeful, but the more agitation there is, the nearer will come the day. Montreal and Ottawa are the only Canadian cities I know of that have definite plans to put services underground."

Reid has followed the new developments. He knows about the system that is giving a new suburb of Niagara Falls, Ont., light and power without unsightly poles and exposed lines.

OUT OF THE WAR came thermo-plastic insulation. It put on the market a wire covered in a way to withstand heat, moisture and high voltage. The new lines can be buried in the soil. No lead sheath is needed. That cuts the cost of cable to one-third the price of lead-covered lines.

The new product is in use on Dallas Road, where a stretch of 7,000 feet was laid from Ogden Point to Beacon Hill Park last year. The cable cost $1,000. Running it through existing ducts added $100 to that. Where there are no channels, costs would be much higher.

In the Niagara suburb, the plan is an experiment. The lines are laid a few inches below the sidewalk, which gives protection, and the job has not cost much more than overhead lines.

In Victoria surfaces would have to be broken in many cases and new tunnels made. Repairs might be more costly.

"Underground is beautiful but installation costs are too high yet," says Reid.

THE CITY ITSELF has gone underground with lead cable for its cluster-light system. Telephone and private power lines have stayed above ground. To put them below the surface might cost the utility companies—by the roughest of guesses—around a million dollars. Maintenance can be met at a fraction of that sum.

When phone and power were piped into the Memorial Arena without poles, the job cost the telephone company $4,000. That tells its own story.

There is one bright spot in the picture locally. Many of the downtown stores—those that have sidewalk skylights—are using city property for basement space. The amount of ground used that way is being studied by the engineer's department.

This space might be used to carry the light and power lines.

IT'S A PITY the underground wasn't tried when Wartime Housing and other new subdivisions were built. It was suggested at that time.

Now the city electrical engineer puts his hopes on the waterfront as the test section. Eventually, he says, the poles and overheads will be taken from the waterfront if the companies follow the city.

That's one of Reid's projects. He has another more pressing problem, the cluster lights downtown. It's a question of public tastes against efficiency.

On Fort Street between Cook and Ormond, 24 cluster lights have been taken out and 10 new overhead street lights have been put in.

"We've cut power consumption by 36 per cent, increased illumination 160 per cent, and estimate we'll have saved 45 per cent on annual upkeep on that section," Reid says.

THE DEPARTMENT has designed a new street light standard and will try it out soon. On Yates Street it will put up 25-foot hexagonal columns, with unswapped tops and cast steel bases. If the public likes them, there will be more.

The citizens have to decide between the charm of dinner by candlelight, which is the appeal of the clusters, and less costly, more efficient illumination.

And a lot of them will prefer the most luxury of the clusters that gleam like subdued jewels on the city's dress at night. Don't think the city department has no sense of the aesthetic. Reid is aware of the affection Victoria has for its present system. He is also aware of the calls for better lighting and lower taxes.

To Pave Way For Oil Development

Delegation Urges Government To Assist Exploration In B.C.

Broadening of public education in conservation of B.C.'s forest resources and replacement of the one-man Coal and Petroleum Board to facilitate oil development in the province were among proposals presented to the provincial cabinet today by a delegation from the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Delegates Ask Adoption Of Low-Rent Plan

Alleviation of the housing shortage to avoid possibility of a system of provincial rental control and establishment of a low rental housing plan was urged before the provincial cabinet today by a delegation from the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce.

(The provincial government this Wednesday introduced a bill to give sweeping powers to municipalities to take part in a low cost housing scheme without the previous consent of the electors.)

The delegate's brief urged that a body of experts be set up as a housing authority and that money be provided to lay out a comprehensive plan for low rental housing. It further recommended that a method of continued supervision during occupation was necessary to insure a high standard of maintenance and asked the government to give the matter its immediate attention.

RENTAL CONTROL

The brief said the Vancouver junior chamber had repeatedly endorsed the principle of rental control over housing and had requested the federal government to maintain such control until such time as it judged the control might safely be abandoned. However, the brief continued, the junior chamber realized that under the present system of control there were glaring cases of inequality and it believed that under any practical system of rental control it would be impossible to eliminate such inequalities.

"We therefore urge upon your government that all possible measures be undertaken to alleviate the housing shortage in the various affected areas in the hopes that a system of provincial rental control will not be necessary when the present federal regulations expire," the brief said.

PEOPLE LIVE LONGER

Greater Span Of Life Adds To Pension Bill

In spite of complaints, the B.C. superannuation scheme is the best in Canada, Mr. R. A. Pennington, superannuation commissioner and his deputy, W. H. Forrest, told the B.C. Retired Civil Servants Association at the monthly meeting.

Mr. Pennington pointed out contributions were received from approximately 24,000 persons, including civil servants, teachers, municipal unions and others, and 3,565 cheques were sent out monthly.

"One of the growing problems was to meet obligations incurred by the increasing length of the life span."

British Columbia had a higher percentage of aged persons than could be found in the rest of Canada.

The secretary read a number of letters from members of the Legislature in reply to a circular addressed to them by the association. Replies were uniformly sympathetic, and some promised to deal with retired civil servants' affairs in the House.

The association's annual bulletin was mailed to over 1,000.

On the question of forest conservation, the brief recommended that, in future, emphasis be laid on prevention rather than cure and that the government incorporate into school curricula throughout the province the subject of forestry. It also recommended that the present schedule of advertising be increased in order to impress on the minds of the public and forest industries the vital importance of conserving forest stock.

The brief also urged the government "to replace the present one-man Coal and Petroleum Board with a more democratic type of body consisting of members from business and industry, and to give all reasonable encouragement to the exploration and development of B.C.'s oil resources."

It said it had become increasingly obvious through scientific exploration that western Canadian oil fields contained a potentially great economic and financial advantage to the province, and that the junior chamber felt it was imperative that the province assist in obtaining B.C.'s just benefits from the development, refining, transportation and marketing of oil in western Canada.

Other points recommended in the brief included:

Broadening of the scope of membership of the Public Utilities Commission so that there would always be three active members. (The commission at present consists of only the chairman and one other member.)

Reinstitution of daylight saving time this year on a province-wide basis.

Provincial government action to use its good offices with the federal government to alleviate unemployment in B.C.

Consideration by the provincial government to permitting addition of coloring to margarine which, the delegation claimed, was a necessity for many thousands of people in the province.

The public is invited to attend an "open house" at the Red Cross Lodge at the Veterans' Hospital Sunday between the hours of 2 and 5 and 7 and 9. The lodge is normally opened only to veterans.

retired civil servants scattered throughout the province.

Court Hears Testimony Of Convicted Youths

Evidence Given That Boy Pleading Innocent Acted As Lookout For Gang

"We wanted a car, so we went and got one," a boy in his middle teens testified in city police court today. This was during the preliminary hearing of Vernon Umphrey, another teen-ager, on a charge of breaking, entering and committing theft in Olson Motors Ltd., 865 Yates Street, on the night of Feb. 28.

Umphrey has pleaded not guilty.

The frank statement of evidence came from 17-year-old Stanley Leece. He admitted, under cross-examination, that he had already been convicted for this break-in.

Leece, called to the stand as a prosecution witness, told the court Umphrey was a lookout while he and three others entered the premises of the motor company.

Dwight Robertson, second witness, testified Umphrey was outside the premises while the theft took place but maintained he had no duties.

Robert Brown, third youth involved in the theft, said he did not know where Umphrey was at the time of the breaking and entering. He said Umphrey had been approached about taking part but had said he would rather not.

TOO DARK TO SEE
Richard Gray, fourth witness, was of little help to the court. He admitted being in the garage but said it was too dark to see who was with him. He admitted also that he went riding around town in the stolen car.

Further evidence against Umphrey was presented by three teen-agers. They said they had met some boys at a downtown dance and had later gone home with them in a car.

They said a boy called "Vern" had taken turns with a boy named "Dwight" at driving the car.

At the conclusion of the prosecution hearing, counsel James Proudfoot moved that the charge be dismissed. He contended there was no evidence submitted to prove Umphrey had entered the premises of Olson Motors.

Prosecutor Harrison noted there was evidence that accused acted as a lookout while others stole the car. He said this together with evidence that accused later drove the car, was enough to prove Umphrey as an accomplice.

Magistrate Hall remanded the case until Monday for decision.

Fountain Traffic Plan Set To Start Operating Sunday

To Curb Danger Of Congestion At Intersection

Rotary island traffic control plan will go into effect at the Fountain intersection Sunday at mid-day, it was learned at City Hall today.

The plan, which will be installed temporarily at first, is aimed at overcoming congestion at the hazardous intersection where Douglas and Government Streets and the Gorge Road converge.

A sign indicating the method of traffic has already been placed near the intersection and 100 rubber cones, 50 of them luminous are ready in the Garbally Road yard of the city public works department for erection.

The cones, from Burbank, Cal., are made of rubber but look like steel. Though easily handled it is felt the motorist will treat them with respect as they resemble a steel standard.

Police traffic control department have been alerted on the new traffic scheme.

The city debated for two years methods of alleviating congestion at the Fountain and City Council called for a trial of the rotary island plan September of 1949. Sharp corner curbs were rounded by public works crews and the markers ordered.

HORTICULTURE MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society will be held in the City Hall next Tuesday night at 7:30. Guest speaker will be one of Canada's outstanding rose growers, Mr. H. M. Eddie of Eddie's Nurseries, Vancouver, B.C. He will show two colored films taken on his recent European trip. One is titled "Bonnie Scotland" and the other "A Horticulturist's Trip Through Europe."

ADDED LEISURE COMES AT RIGHT TIME FOR POLICE

Victoria policemen will have more time for leisure just when they will be able to enjoy it most—at the height of summer.

The award of a five-day, 40-hour week handed down by a conciliation board today will become effective July 1. Inauguration of the shorter week was delayed to allow those in charge of the force to make suitable arrangements.

In addition, policemen will have nine statutory holidays instead of seven, retroactive to Jan. 1. This was agreed to at the conciliation hearing.

Smallest Baby Thriving, Adds To Weight, 20 Oz.

After living in an incubator with oxygen being pumped in since she was born three and half months ago, the smallest baby ever born in Royal Jubilee Hospital—and possibly the smallest in B.C.—now is able to get along on natural air.

Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical superintendent, said today the tiny baby, born prematurely, was progressing favorably.

At birth, "Tiny," as she is called by nurses weighed one pound 13 ounces, but dropped to one pound four ounces shortly after. Now four pounds 13 ounces, the infant is pretty well "over the hump" and is expected to develop like any other normal child.

CREDIT TO STAFF

Dr. Anderson said the healthy condition of "Tiny" was "a real credit to the hospital staff."

Nurses have given the youngster special attention since birth. She has been on a special formula all along.

Though still kept in an incubator, the baby no longer has the oxygen injected to thicken the air. The mixture was gradually decreased until there was only ordinary air.

"Tiny" has been under the care of Dr. Russell B. Robertson, baby specialist.

Sent Up For Trial

In city police court today, George Bertram Walker was committed for trial on two charges of theft by Magistrate H. C. Hall at the conclusion of a hearing. These charges were for theft of a suit and a coat. Hearing on the third charge of theft of $260 will take place Monday. He was charged with these thefts from the New Method Laundry while working for the firm.

M-m-m-m! Cheese Takes On Sharper Tang, 60c Pound

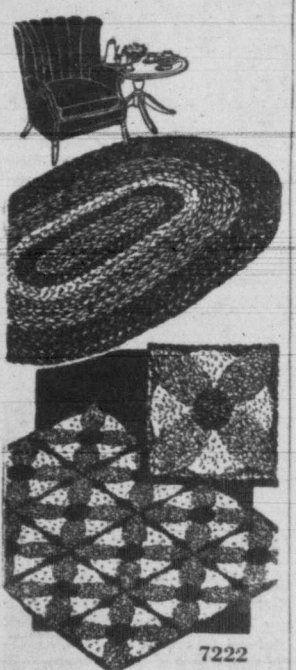

By PENNY SAVER

Cheese, just like the good old sharp, kind, will tempt you, as it did me, to take 60 cents out of a dollar bill, to buy delicious matured Canadian cheese. Speaking of cheese, have you noticed the imported green cheese from Switzerland? I know 21 cents for three ounces rings high, but it's a knockout for special occasions, either for grating, for fancy dishes and salads or hors d'oeuvres.

Didn't know that a mere little bright red radish could do so much to a vegetable counter. Sitting there, about 24 of them in the bunch at nine cents, winking at every customer as they go by. You try to pass them up and see what happens!

Coming down the price scale are those all washed, de-gritted packages of spinach that sell for 19 cents. All you do is rinse the vegetable in clear water before putting them in the pot. Sliding down, too, is the price of tube tomatoes at 17 cents.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER-ELDRED

It is commonplace for a parent to consider milk a beverage and not a food. She offers a bottle with the same aplomb as if she were presenting the baby a glass of water. She knows this isn't a drink minus nutrition, but she treats it as such when she offers it between meals.

During early infancy the child's whole nutrition comes from its formula or breast feeding. By the sixth week, if not before, additional foods will be added to the diet and it is when the additional foods reach the point of satisfying the baby at any one meal, that the mother begins to treat the milk as a drink and not as a food.

Over and over mothers tell me how they feed their babies and how they are responding to it. And often the one thing that is wrong in the whole situation is that the mothers are feeding the children three times a day with food and "watering" them three other times a day with bottles of milk. The milk is given an hour or two hours after the meal as if it had no significance as a nutritious food and as if the stomach would willingly accept another portion of food to be digested.

The fact is that it does rebel and that is usually the cause of the child's appetitelessness (at the next meal) or the restlessness during sleep.

If the child cannot drink its formula at the end of its meal of solid food, then the portions of solid food are excessive.

If the child cannot eat, once it has partaken of its formula, then something is amiss with the formula, it is too large in quantity, is given too often, or its ingredients are unbalanced.

The disadvantage of giving milk between meals or even an hour after meals is that the child's stomach is kept active and full until the next feeding. When the stomach is still busy with the last meal, there is little hunger and therefore no appetite for the next one.

Milk should be part of each meal. Give the food and milk alternately, if the baby does not want all of the milk at the end of the meal. Be sure the formula is a proper one for age and weight and not too weighted with sugar. But don't feed solid food and then wait an hour or two and give milk, thinking that by so doing you insure the baby will get both food and milk. He will, at one meal, if that meal is properly proportioned.

Our leaflet No. 22, "Formulas and Early Feeding," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married four years to a young man of good character who professes to love me, but we have never in all the years we have been married had an hour's enjoyment together. I have worked constantly since we have been married and we have no children. I do not understand my husband's attitude toward me. If I plan something for our enjoyment, he sulks, argues, fights and does everything to ruin the evening. If someone comes to the house to see us, he tells about what a sloppy housekeeper I am. If one of our friends pays me a compliment, he remarks: "You ought to live with her for a while." I have killed my own personality completely to keep peace with him, but to no good. What's the answer to this terrible problem of how to get along with a man who says he loves you, yet does everything to make you miserable?

VERILYN.

Answer: I suppose the real explanation of your husband's conduct is that he is a sort of sadist.

This is particularly the case when the man secretly feels that he is his wife's inferior in looks, or mind, or disposition, or achievements. Then he justifies himself to himself and thinks he shows off before others by trying to humiliate her. What pleasure a man can find in making his wife needlessly unhappy—no normal mind can understand. But their perverted souls do.

Woman Author Likes Northland, Now Plans To Make Future Home There

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A well-known author who has taken up temporary residence in Victoria for a "bit of quietness" thinks white people can learn a lot from Eskimos. And it has nothing to do with hunting and fishing.

She is Sally Carrigher, author of two popular nature books and a frequent writer for the Saturday Evening Post. The American woman is now writing a third book to be published under the name of "Where Storms Begin."

The writer, who spent a year at Unalakleet, an isolated native village on the coast of the stormy Bering Strait, collecting material for her new book, claims Eskimos are more courteous than white people and are more sensitive to people's needs.

"Eskimos don't boast about their accomplishments and flatter themselves," said Miss Carrigher. "They are tolerant and have a sound philosophy of life sadly lacking in modern civilization."

Miss Carrigher was so pleased with her stay in the north that she is now planning to live indefinitely somewhere on the rim of the Arctic circle. She finds life simpler there and white people more friendly.

Relating some of her experiences at Unalakleet, the writer said she never saw so much snow in her life. Storms which continued for weeks without respite piled up snow drifts 38 feet in height. Eskimos had to cut steps in the drifts in order to move about the village.

She admitted she had a pretty hard time keeping warm in a small room adjoining a store. She spent $100 a month on fuel but never got the temperature to rise higher than 50 degrees. She was forced to spend most of her time in Eskimo homes in order to keep warm.

The author of "One Day at Tenton Marsh" and "One Day on Beetle Rock" is one of the best known authorities on wild life in the United States. She gained her knowledge of animals by living alone for months in the forests and mountains of the West Coast.

LIKES ANIMALS

At Sequoia National Park, California, deer followed her on the lonely trails wherever she went. Her cabin was surrounded by all sorts of wild animals who came to regard her as a friend and protector.

She speaks lightly about her accomplishments as a naturalist. When asked how she was able to become so friendly with animals, she said it was just a matter of patience and tact.

"People do not see many wild animals because of their aggressiveness and their nervous display," she said. "I believe animals like man."

Miss Carrigher said animals were "touchy" about some things and demanded respect like human beings.

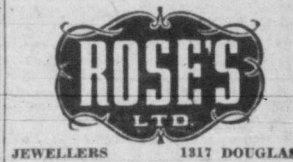

"Never look a wild animal straight in the eye," she said. "It is an insult to him and he is likely to get good and mad and charge you."

She said on one occasion by mistake she looked a bear straight in the eyes. The bear, angry at the insult, charged her and kept her trapped in the cabin for three weeks.

"I finally got so angry at him that I rushed out of my cabin and began throwing stones at him," she related. "He was so surprised and shocked that he ran away and never was seen around the cabin again."

PACKARD and AUSTIN OWNERS

ONE THING IS SURE AS SHOOTIN'
After braving the rigors of the past winter your car certainly needs a spring and summer check-up. After the trials and tribulations of winter driving, now is the time to have your car body and undergarment checked, your shock absorbers checked, and a general check-over including your engine. Our spring and summer check-up is planned to cover all these and more and is necessary in order to catch any little faults that may have developed before they grow into large faults.

'Confession' Magazines Get Green Light

OTTAWA (CP)—The confession magazine field is wide open in Canada.

This situation resulted from an Exchequer Court judgment handed down Wednesday which rejected an attempt by "True Confessions," a U.S. magazine, to eliminate all other confession publications from Canadian newstands.

1. It dismissed charges against Alexander Valentine, Toronto publisher, and Pastime Publications Ltd., of putting out magazines so similar to "True Confessions" that it infringed on the rights of that publication.

2. It found that "True Confessions" was purely a descriptive title which had not acquired a secondary meaning and thus should never have been registered as a trade mark in Canada.

The result is that the word "confessions" is not considered a registrable word.

Anyone who wants to put out magazines with such names as "Torrid Confessions," "Intimate Confessions," or any other kind of confessions can go right ahead.

Wants Abolition Of Means Test
Abolition of the means test for old age pensions was advocated in the Legislature Thursday afternoon by A. J. R. Ash, Saanich M.L.A.

He made the recommendation in view of the fact that all parties were agreed on this point.

Mr. Ash expressed the hope Premier Johnson would take up the matter at the fall conference of the Dominion-provincial governments in Ottawa. The simplest procedure, he said, might be payment of old age pensions entirely by the Dominion government.

"Against it, of course," he said, "might be held the troublesome need for a constitutional change and larger federal tax burden."

Dates Conflict; Charge Dropped
Confusion over a date resulted in a charge against Norman A. Pimlott, Old East Saanich Road, being dismissed in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon.

Pimlott was charged with driving over 30 miles per hour on Quadra Street.

According to the summons served Pimlott the alleged offence took place Feb. 8. According to testimony of Constable J. Burnett, apprehending officer, the alleged offence took place Jan. 6.

In view of the conflicting dates, prosecutor Claude Harrison asked the charge be dismissed. It was.

Improvement Act Amendment Sought
An amendment to the Local Improvement Act to permit debentures to be issued under the sinking-fund plan where the loan is for local improvement only and is approved by the inspector of municipalities, was sought in proposals presented to the Legislature's municipal committee by the Union of B.C. Municipalities today.

At present sinking-fund plan debentures are not authorized and, as a result, a difficulty arises in respect to local improvement loans.

DROUGHTON, Yorkshire, Eng. (CP)—Annie Hayward insisted on taking her pet goat along on a bus-ride. She was fined 10s ($1.55) for "retaining an animal in a stage carriage after being requested by an authorized person to remove it."

Most Employees Of Oak Bay Get Wage Increases

All Oak Bay employees except firemen have now received wage increases for the current year.

Outside and inside staffs accepted a council offer of a $9 across-the-board boost last month, and later, policemen were granted a new wage scale.

FOUR STAR FINAL Coal Peace Talks Continue U.S. Acts To Seize Mines

U.S. TO KEEP DELEGATION OF REDS OUT

Group Includes Red Dean, Famed Artist Picasso

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department today barred from the United States a 12-man leftist delegation which sought to come here from Europe to petition Congress to ban atomic weapons and end the arms race.

The department refused visas for the delegation, which included the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, the so-called Red Dean of Canterbury, and Pablo Picasso, the famed Spanish painter.

The 12 delegates, on the basis of available information, are either known Communists or fellow travelers and are therefore subject to exclusion from the United States under the immigration laws, the State Department announced.

It added that it had consulted Congressional leaders and with their support "is refusing to grant entry to the proposed delegation."

'SOVIET WEAPON'

The delegation represented "the World Congress of Partisans of Peace," which the State Department said is "the leading overall Communist front organization in the world." It said the "partisans of peace" movement is "a major Soviet instrumentality for propaganda and political pressure."

The department warned U.S. citizens that Communist front organizations are pressing an extensive propaganda campaign to promote so-called peace movements.

American officials are convinced the campaign is aimed at weakening and dividing western public opinion, leaving westerners so confused that they could accept conditions that would leave the United States weaker in relation to Russia.

The State Department linked the partisans of peace, which have their headquarters in Paris, with other Communist front groups and with the cultural and scientific conference on world peace which was held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York last March.

No Over-All Hunt For Reds In Australia

MELBOURNE (Reuter)—Australia has no intention of inquiring into the records of all its postwar European settlers, immigration minister Harold Holt said today.

He was replying to London press reports that the espionage trial of Dr. Klaus Fuchs had revealed the need for further screening in Australia.

Holt said "I have no reason to question, from my experience of the department, the loyalty and reliability of many thousands of migrants."

A spokesman for the government department which controls Australia's long-range weapons branch said today in Canberra that not one German or alien scientist is employed either in the branch or on the Australian rocket range.

The London statement had implied that some of 60 German scientists brought to Australia by the federal government were engaged in work on the rocket range.

CRANBROOK (CP)—M. B. Social Crediters Oust M.L.A.

EDMONTON (CP)—Members of the Social Credit Party were reported today to have approved the expulsion of A. V. Bourcier (S.C., Lac Ste. Anne) from the government side of the Legislature, but no action will be taken until next week.

Mrs. Bourcier has been excluded from Social Credit caucus for the last year.

Ford of Canada May Close

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited said today operations at its big plant employing more than 11,000 here will be suspended in "two or three weeks" unless coal supplies are improved.

Ford of United States said earlier in Detroit its dwindling coal supply would force closing of production there in two weeks.

Alaska Statehood Approved

WASHINGTON (BUP)—The House today approved a bill to grant statehood to Alaska.

The House voted 186 to 146 to end the strategic northern territory's 34-year-old wait for admission to the union.

Says Reds Got A-Bomb Matter

WASHINGTON (AP)—G. Racey Jordan, a former U.S. Air Force major, testified today that from 1942 to 1944 Russia got millions of pounds of American Lend-Lease materials he now knows could be used in producing an atomic bomb.

Jordan told the House Un-American Activities Committee the materials were cadmium, graphite for furnaces and aluminum tubes, plus thorium.

Seattle Hockey Player Arrested

SEATTLE (BUP)—Joseph T. Medynski, 27, hockey player for the Seattle Ironmen of the Pacific Coast League, was booked on a charge of drunken driving today following a two-car collision Thursday night.

Police said Jack F. Malstrom, Seattle, complained that Medynski had crashed into his vehicle. Malstrom said he drove after the hockey player and held him until police arrived.

Medynski was released on $250 bail.

Pearson Says Canada Must Keep Up With Atomic Work

OTTAWA (BUP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson said today Canada must not lag behind other nations in atomic energy development, culminating in the hydrogen bomb.

Opening a two-day Parliament debate on foreign affairs, Pearson said Canadian atomic energy policy was two-fold: First, to work towards international agreement on atomic energy control; and second, to keep up with the times on atomic energy know-how.

"As long as the danger of such warfare remains, we, together with friendly states with whom

'Danger To Health Real, Immediate'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential fact finder David L. Cole said late today the government is "more hopeful than we ever were" for a prompt settlement of the soft coal contract dispute.

Cole said John L. Lewis and mine owners had been negotiating secretly "all afternoon," while President Truman was calling on Congress for seizure power.

'Within a few days we shall be virtually out of soft coal. The danger to the national health and safety is real and immediate. It requires action at once.'

He said that if coal production is not resumed at once there will be "human suffering and disastrous economic dislocation."

Mr. Truman proposed:

1. An impartial board to make recommendations "concerning fair and just compensation for the use of the property of the mine owners."
2. Another impartial board to determine how much the government should pay the miners while they work for the government.
3. Establishment of a commission of inquiry, including government, congressional and public members, "to make a thorough study of the coal industry in terms of economic, social and national security objectives."

Meanwhile, the United States Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered a new 15 per cent cut in railroad passenger and freight services requiring the use of coal.

The new order is due to become effective at 11:59 p.m. (local time) Sunday.

This is the third reduction in coal-burning train operations ordered since January.

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa. (AP)—

Striking coal miners in this western Pennsylvania coal community said today they are "anxious and willing" to go back to work if the government seizes the mines.

Typical of the attitude is one veteran digger who said: "I'll be ready to go back to work when the government takes over."

Vietnamese Youth Leader Shot Dead

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Do van Nang, 30, anti-Communist leader of a Nationalist youth organization supporting the French-sponsored Bao Dai government, was shot and killed by an assassin while entering his office, police announced today.

Police Eject Reds From French House

PARIS (AP)—Mobile Guards tonight forcibly ejected a group of Communist deputies from the French National Assembly, where they had been staging a sitdown strike on the Speaker's rostrum.

The ejection brought on a new burst of shouts and apparently, fistuffs as the Communist deputies resisted expulsion.

Montreal Fire Ruins Combed As 12 Missing

MONTREAL (CP)—Firemen cautiously picked their way through ice-coated debris today in search for more possible victims who may have been trapped in a $1,000,000 blaze that swept a block of Montreal's Chinatown early Thursday. Four lives were lost.

Major Goatefield, director of a Red Cross field station set up near the scene, said late Thursday night that 12 persons are missing following a room-by-room search of the Lotus Garden Hotel where the fire originated. An oil furnace explosion was said to have caused the blaze.

Fire Commissioner Jean St. Germaine said he will open an inquiry into the tragedy next week.

Fire Chief Raymond Pare said there are possibly one or more bodies in the ruins but the weakened condition of the brick walls made search hazardous.

He said he is trying to get permission from insurance companies to pull down the walls before sending in firemen.

The Red Cross today issued a list of nine persons, missing and believed dead, following a check with the manager of the 50-room Lotus Hotel, one of the buildings destroyed.

The list included the names of a man and two women. Their bodies are believed to be those taken to the morgue. Identification has not yet been established because the bodies were so badly burned.
